HEAVY FIGHTING IN ITALY

Long Columns Of Nazis In Retreat From Kiev Area

Soviet Legions Have Turned Tide In Great Battle Says Moscow

GERMAN CASUALTIES CONTINUE TO MOUNT

(BULLETIN)

ALGIERS, Dec. 13.—(INS) Soviet troops have entered the suburbs of Cherkassy, Ukrainian rail center, the Algiers radio reported today.

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Dec. 13.—Long columns of Nazi troops, their ranks decimated and their equipment battered by accurate Red army artillery fire, retreated westward through the Kiev bulge today when Soviet legions turned the tide and ejected them from several towns and villages there.

The Soviet high command revealed officially that the Russians, following many days of no-quarter fighting, succeeded in wresting the initiative from the enemy and recapturing several communities in the region some 60 miles west of Kiev itself.

At least 1,600 Nazi officers and men were slain in this fighting, while in just the narrow area surrounding Malin, 35 German tanks were turned to heaps of twisted steel wreckage. Soviet artillery, long famed for its deadly accuracy, was credited with turning the tide in raging battle.

Greatest Battle of Year

The Russian triumphs were carved out in what well-informed observers labeled the greatest battle of the year; a battle in which clouds of swirling fog shielded from observation great masses of Nazi tanks and infantrymen.

German casualties meanwhile continued to mount in other sectors as Soviet divisions lunged forward to score new gains. At least 800 Germans were slain—and 25 tanks destroyed—by Russian columns which knifed their way into Chigirin, 40 miles southwest of Cherkassy, where the entire enemy garrison was annihilated.

Allies Are Waging Huge War On Nerves

(The strategy now being employed by the United Nations is discussed in the following article by Major Paul C. Raborg, noted military analyst and author of "Mechanized Might".)

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially for I. N. S.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—It is obvious that the forward movement of United Nations land troops on all global fronts has been slowed down to non-decisive gains. In Italy the advances have been measured in feet and yards. In Russia the offensives of the Red armies have been brought practically to a stop. And in the Far East at Bougainville, where the fighting has equalled Guadalcanal, gains again have been measured in feet rather than miles.

The reason, although not generally realized, is that the United Nations are waging the greatest and most successful "war of nerves" offensive that has as yet been known to history. The Axis nations are being threatened from the north, south, east and west, and from the air, by Allied and United Nations offensives. And neither Hitler nor Hirohito have any idea of where and when the new blows will fall.

New Blows Planned

We all know from the recent conferences that, in each sector of the United Nations fighting fronts, great blows have been planned and their preparations largely completed. In the west, the Fuehrer and his Nazi general staff know that a blow or blows will fall against western Europe.

That coast line is 2,000 miles long. In southern Europe Hitler must expect an invasion of Mediterran-

HEAR REPORTS CABINET QUITS IN BULGARIA

Anti-War Demonstrations Are Reported Sweeping Nazi Satellite Nation

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The entire Bulgarian cabinet was reported today to have resigned as the climax in a series of anti-war demonstrations said to be sweeping that Nazi satellite nation.

Other reports indicated simultaneously that the peace movement had lapped over into Hungary, where cabinet meetings were said to be following each other in rapid succession.

The diplomatic correspondent of the London Telegraph quoted Ankara reports as insisting that the Bulgarian cabinet refused to continue in office. According to information received in Istanbul from Sofia, the correspondent continued, the whole Nazi-dominated country "is faced with the definite threat of civil war" if the leaders continue to drag it down the path of German collaboration.

Simultaneously, the Mail reported that the Bulgarian army nas delivered to the government an ultimatum to withdraw from the war.

Reuter's news agency meanwhile recorded a broadcast of the Cairo radio which reported that Hungary has been flooded with pamphlets calling upon the population to refuse to aid in the nation's war effort but, instead, to assist the "peace party" to come into power.

(In New York, the OWI quoted the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet as reporting that leaflets dropped by American fliers on Bucharest at the same time that Sofia was attacked last week caused the "increasingly acute" political crisis in the Balkans to spread from Bulgaria to Rumania.

(The paper asserted that fears of allied raids, coupled with dread of a Russian breakthrough, and rumors of the demobilization of the Rumanian army, had caused "a mass flight" from Bucharest.)

Russo-Turk Alliance Rumored In London

Premier Warns Turkey Must Be Ready To Fight To Protect Freedom

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Rumors of a forthcoming Turko-Soviet alliance trickled into London from Istanbul today in the wake of a blunt speech by Prime Minister Sukru Sarcoglu warning that the republic must be ready to fight to protect its freedom.

The London News Chronicle quoted Istanbul circles close to the Turkish foreign office as intimating that a formal pact between that nation and the U. S. S. R. may be signed soon.

This report came only a few hours after the Ankara radio quoted Saracoglu as bluntly informing his homeland that more than 60 percent of the nation's wartime budget is being spent on the army and, "since we are giving up our material possessions to keep up this valiant army, then we should show no hesitation in shedding our blood to safeguard the most scared heritage of Turkey—her independence."

Way Is Cleared For Nomination Of Military Men

Ruling By War And Navy Departments Is Given On Situation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The way was cleared today for an intensive drive to name Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied commander in the Southwest Pacific, Republican presidential nominee in next year's election.

Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., who has urged MacArthur for the presidency, obtained rulings from the war and navy departments to the effect that army or navy officers can retain their posts during a campaign.

The rulings also affect Lieut. Commander Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, whose name has been entered in Republican presidential primaries. It may affect Gen. George Marshall, chief of staff, who has been used for the presidency by Sen. Ed. Johnson (R) Colo.

Secretary of War Stimson said it will be the policy of the war department not to prevent "an army officer from accepting a nomination for the presidency or vice-presidency of the United States and remaining on active duty in the armed services during the election campaign."

Secretary of the Navy Knox said an officer can accept a draft for nomination for high political office without any direct or indirect participation in the movement.

Both secretaries emphasized that resignations of high officers are subject to the discretion of the president.

Marvin McIntyre Taken By Death

Secretary To President Roosevelt Dies Suddenly In Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Marvin McIntyre, secretary to President Roosevelt, died suddenly today at the home of his daughter in Washington.

McIntyre was Mr. Roosevelt's publicity director during the presidential campaign of 1932, and served continuously as his secretary until the time of his death.

His first association with the President was during the first World War when Mr. Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy, and McIntyre was in charge of Navy public relations.

McIntyre was also associated with Mr. Roosevelt during his unsuccessful campaign for the vice presidency in 1920.

Born in La Grange, Ky., in 1878, McIntyre had a long newspaper and public relations career before becoming Washington representative for several motion picture newsreel companies, a post he held from 1922 to 1932.

Three Navy Fliers Dead; Two Missing

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13.—Three navy fliers are dead and two others missing today as the aftermath of the crash of a navy plane off the New Jersey coast near Barnegat City.

The craft, enroute from Norfolk to its home base at Floyd Bennett Field in New York, fell into the ocean Sunday afternoon, the fourth naval district announced at noon today.

A rescue party recovered the bodies of the three dead airmen in the wreckage, part of which was consumed by fire which indicated the ship may have exploded on striking the water.

Navy authorities are conducting a search of the beach and sea near the scene for the two missing men. The names of all five occupants of the plane are being withheld pending the notification of the next of kin.

German Fleet Fails To Appear

Allied Fleet Maneuvers Challenge German Fleet On Norway Coast

NAZI BATTLESHIPS DO NOT RESPOND

By ARTHUR OAKSHOTT
Reuter Special Correspondent With The British Home Fleet
Distributed By International News Service

AT A NORTHERN NAVAL BASE—The pride of the German fleet in northern waters—including the famous pocket battleships Scharnhorst and Gniesenau—had a chance to take a crack at a large combined Anglo-American naval force which went within 200 miles of the Norwegian coast.

But the Axis apparently did not choose to come out and fight.

The Allied naval force did everything possible to make its presence known to the Germans, but to the disgust of thousands of Allied fighting men, none of the Nazi ships—neither the huge Tirpitz nor the Leutzow nor the Admiral Scheer—emerged.

Large Allied Force

The Allied force, British-commanded, comprised more warships than took part in the sinking of the Bismarck, and included H.M.S. Duke of York, on which the commander in chief of the home fleet, Admiral Sir Bruce A. Fraser flew his flag; H.M.S. Soylla; the aircraft carrier H.M.S. Furious and an escort screen of British and American destroyers.

I was aboard the Duke of York and the "skipper," Capt. Creasy, told us over the loud speaker system the whole daring plan.

"Our job is to patrol near Bear Island in support of other forces ahead of us," Capt. Creasy said. "If the German surface vessels decide to come out, we will be happy to accommodate them."

We ploughed northward through rolling seas and the temperature became colder and colder, much to the displeasure of some of the Americans who didn't like this dropping

Five Fishermen Are Lost In Storm

Chicago Area In Grip Of Sudden Sub-Zero Storm; Planes Are Forced Down

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—(INS)—A sudden cold wave, preceded in the Chicago and Lake Michigan areas by a gale and snowstorm which cost five fishermen their lives and forced down seven military planes, shot the mercury down to sub-zero levels in sections of the midwest today.

The fishermen were lost off Saugatuck, Mich., when their 65-foot steel craft, one of the newest on the lakes, went down as coast guardsmen were unable to launch rescue boats in the heavy gale.

Six of the planes forced down when trapped by the sudden gale which ushered in the cold snap were Royal Canadian Air Force craft on their way east.

Four landed at the American airport, one at the Douglas airport northwest of Chicago, and one in a field at the edge of the Westchester Forest Preserves southwest of Chicago. The seventh ship, an American P-38, landed about 15 miles east of Walkerton, Ind.

Widespread areas in the Midwest reported sudden drops in temperature. Moderate winds accompanied the cold snap, with considerable snow in some areas.

One of the cold spots was Duluth, Minn., which shivered in 7-below temperature.

Long Journey Made To Attack Jap Refineries

Allied Bombers Make 2,500 Mile Round Trip To Hit Borneo

ISLAND OF CELEBES IS ALSO ATTACKED

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Dec. 13.—A 2,500-mile round-trip night raid by allied Liberator bombers which left Japan's oil refineries at Balikpappan, on the island of Borneo, a towering mass of flame was reported by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

As one group of these big bombers hit refinery plant and storage tank areas at Balikpappan, another unit of the huge B-24's struck at the enemy's port installations at Macassar, on the island of Celebes in the Dutch East Indies, where fires were started in the wharf areas.

Both Balikpappan and Macassar have been raided previously by the big Liberators.

Battling Aussies Gain

Gen. MacArthur also reported fresh successes by the hard-fighting Australian jungle troops in their drive to clear New Guinea's Huon peninsula of Japs.

The battling Aussies advanced northwards along the coast to the Sowi river, after driving the Japs from their prepared positions in the precipitous jungle terrain of the Onum river valley. The Japanese left behind at least 100 dead, who had been ensconsed in deep cliff-side dugouts.

This latest advance, accomplished in spite of fierce enemy resistance and in the face of torrential tropical rain storms, placed the Australians approximately 15 miles north of Finschhafen, where MacArthur's forces are poised for a possible invasion hop across the narrow Vitiaz strait to New Britain.

Allied Mitchell medium bombers, supporting the Aussies in their ground advance, tore into the Japanese barge base and bivouac areas at Fortification Point, dropping 20 tons of high explosives. Allied fighter planes sank two Jap barges and a launch off Lapsuis Point and a naval PT boat on night patrol sank two barges and damaged three others off Blucher Point.

Clashes Reported

Further inland, in the Ramu valley, fierce patrol clashes were reported going on in the Kesawai sector. Artillery duels also were reported, and allied air patrols drove off a force of 40 Jap fighters which attempted to raid the Australian gun positions.

In the mountainous Ramu valley country southwest of Madang, the Australians now are operating against the enemy with horse cavalry—the first time in which horses have been used for combat in the southwest Pacific theatre.

OPA REDUCES POINTS FOR PORK, FRESH HAMS

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—(INS)—A one-point reduction in the ration values of 35 types of pork and a two-point cut in the value of fresh hams was ruled effective today by the OPA in Washington to relieve the critical over-supply in the Pittsburgh district pork market.

Pittsburgh district meat packers said the reduction may help to increase sales but added a warning that point values on pork are still out of proportion with current supplies. Tons of fresh pork are in danger of spoiling, they said.

SOFIA ATTACK OCCURS AFTER GERMAN PLANES LAND ON AIRFIELD

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The Algiers radio today quoted Turkish sources for the information that the Allied air attack on Sofia announced yesterday by the Axis occurred just after 200 large German transport planes landed on the airfield near Sofia.

Bulgaria Is Center Of Allied Pressure

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—A powerful Allied psychological drive is underway today to force Bulgaria's withdrawal from the war.

Reports were current in Washington diplomatic circles that Soviet Russia has joined in bringing strong pressure to bear on the Nazi-dominated Balkan state to break away from the Axis camp.

Moscow is reported to have sent a special warning to Bulgaria to get out of the war. The warning is believed to have been delivered by a new Soviet military attache who has just arrived in Sofia.

Warning From Hull

Bulgaria as well as Rumania and Hungary, also had a solemn weekend warning from Secretary of State Cordell Hull to beware lest it share the consequences of the "terrible defeat" the United Nations' forces are going to impose on Nazi Germany.

Weight is being lent to the Allied political pressure by American air raids on the railway junctions in Sofia. These junctions have been used to transport German reinforcements to the Turkish border region of Bulgaria.

Gen. Henry H. "Hap" Arnold chief of the U. S. Army Air Forces, also served notice on Bulgaria and the other two Axis satellite states that preparations are nearing completion for far more devastating aerial blows against them.

German Homeland Given Warning Of 'Terrible Winter'

Day And Night Aerial Bombardments Are Promised By Allies

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

A. U. S. AIRFIELD IN ITALY, Dec. 13.—Allied radio stations in the European theater beamed a warning to the German homeland today that it faces a "terrible winter," wracked by aerial bombardment from all directions both day and night.

The stations quoted the statement made earlier by Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commander of the United States Army Air Forces, when he told American war correspondents that the Reich is due for a "360-degree, 24-hour per day bombing" under a program that is "just about ready to start."

To Hit Every Town

As the Allied goal in the drive Gen. Arnold listed the ambition "to hit every town, every industry, every warehouse in Germany with the fullest impact."

Then, expressing the determination of the Allied flying squadrons he added grimly:

"We are going to do it. There will be a terrible winter for the enemy with the Americans unleashing the onslaught by day and the Royal Air Force by night. Each—the U. A. A. F. and the RAF—has its specific functions and both complement each other. The practicability of long-range daylight bombing is increasing daily with our increased production."

Gen. Arnold, who had just concluded a tour of the Fifth and Eighth armies' fighting fronts, predicted that Allied aerial losses will decrease proportionately as the numerical strength of the attacking formations is increased.

"As we spread our approach and fan out in strength," he declared "The enemy's fighter opposition likewise is forced to disperse and consequently weaken itself."

Bases now held by the Allies in this theater "enable us to hit north, west and east and into the Balkans," he went on, adding that the capture of airdromes in northern Italy is no longer vital "because we can reach all target points now."

Renewed Signs Of Invasion Jitters Seen In Germany

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Germany today betrayed distinct signs of renewed invasion jitters, with hints increasing that most of the Reich now looks to Denmark as the probable target of the anticipated Allied drive.

A Zurich newspaper dispatch relayed to Reuter's news agency told of reports flooding even neutral Switzerland from Berlin that Gen. Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's transfer to Denmark means principaly that he now heads a new command set up to meet the expected invasion.

A Stockholm dispatch to the same agency meanwhile asserted that mass arrests are expected momentarily in occupied Denmark as a result of Nazi nervousness.

The Swedish radio reported that armed saboteurs near Jutland succeeded in dynamiting the vast Varde steel works.

Collaborationists in France, however, while agreeing that an invasion is near, selected their homeland as its probable target. An International News Service correspondent in Madrid told of one newspaper there which published a dispatch from its Vichy correspondent in which he declared precautions along the French coast had been "redoubled."

Repatriation Of More Americans Halted For Time

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—It was learned authoritatively today that Japan has notified the United States Government that it will not permit the repatriation of any more American nationals of the Far East until Spanish authorities have made a complete and thorough investigation of Japanese relocation and detention camps in this country.

Japan's move has brought to a virtual standstill the negotiations which were under way for a further exchange of nationals between the two countries.

The Japanese government's action is regarded as a direct outcome of the recent disturbance in the Japanese relocation camp at Tule Lake, Calif., where the Nippon internees staged a riot and troops took over the camp.

Western Germany Bombed In Night

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Mosquito bombers of the Royal Air Force attacked targets in Western Germany during the night, it was revealed officially today by the air ministry.

(Earlier the British Broadcasting Corporation said that Mosquitoes shot down a Nazi Heinkel twin-engined bomber and damaged a second in a sweep over France.)

One of the speedy Mosquito bombers is missing, the air ministry said.

Allies Advance Despite Furious Counter-Attacks

Positions Are Improved On North Side Of Moro River In Sicily

REPORT 6,000 NAZIS TAKEN IN CAMPAIGN

By GRAHAM HOVEY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALGIERS, Dec. 13.—In the face of furious Nazi counter-attacks, the Eighth Arm has advanced further and improved its positions on the north side of the Moro river, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced today.

On the Fifth Army front, Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's troops consolidated their positions and engaged in brisk patrol actions with enemy units.

The troops on the right flank of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army line battled their way forward for about a mile and occupied a point of high ground two miles south of Ortona, and overlooking that town.

(Algiers radio stated that Canadian units of the Eighth occupied the heights south of Ortona.)

Further south the Eighth closed the Ortona-Orsogna road to enemy traffic but the powerful German defense line running along the road from Ortona to Guardiagrele 15 miles inland from the Adriatic to the Majella mountains, remains unbroken.

Weather Handicap

The Eighth Army was handicapped seriously by heavy rain and mud.

Clark's advance also was bogged down, except for patrolling and artillery exchanges.

Northwest of Filignano the Germans attempted a "reconnaissance in force" in an effort to break through the Anglo-American units of the Fifth, but Clark's artillery and mortars sent them reeling back.

West of Filignano another embryo attack was broken up before it really began in the same manner, the guns and mortars driving the foe away before coming to grips with the infantry.

There was no activity of importance on the Garigliano front.

6,000 Nazis Taken

It was announced officially that since the commencement of the invasion of Italy, the Fifth and Eighth armies have captured a total of 6,000 Nazi prisoners.

Meanwhile, there were indications that Clark and Montgomery were marshalling their power for a new onslaught against the Nazis' formidable winter line as soon as the inclement weather abates.

The Eighth Army's right flank seizure of the high ground overlooking Ortona, may very very likely lead to a breaching of the powerful German defense line running from that coastal town parallel with the lateral road southward to Orsogna and Guardiagrele, fifteen miles inland from the Adriatic.

Real Cold Wave Reported Nearing

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Western Pennsylvanians, already besieged by winter's ice and snow, were warned today to prepare for a real cold wave that will tumble temperatures to zero in some places.

The snow fell heavily in some areas last night with unseasonal thunder and lightning, the mercury dropping more than 12 degrees to near 10 above zero in the Pittsburgh area.

Heavy winds were forecast for the district today, with temperatures lowest in the north portion of the state.

German Fleet Now In Finnish Ports Is Report

Vessels Reported Hurried To Finnish Harbors Without Knowledge Of Finnish People

By STEN HEDMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Germany's once-arrogant invasion fleet, long kept in readiness for an assault on Britain, today was reported riding at anchor off Finnish harbors—moved from Baltic ports to prevent destruction at the hands of Allied bombing planes.

A highly reliable source declared that the vessels were hurried to various ports in Southern Finland without the knowledge of the Finnish people. It was feared, this source added, that the populace would "react strongly" if it were informed of the Finnish government's newest concession to the German high command.

The Nazi invasion fleet, which includes barges and larger vessels of various types, was gathered off the coast of Holland in the earlier days of the war under readiness for an expected order to sail against England. The order failed to materialize and the armada was transferred to Germany's Baltic ports. The risk of destruction from bombers hammering at these cities has become so great that this latest move was made necessary to safeguard the vessels, it was reported.

It was felt that the move was made solely to provide shelter for the vessels and to keep them in readiness for whatever future moves may be decided upon.

stood to be urging the Bulgarians to withdraw their forces from occupied Macedonia, the Greek territory given Bulgaria after the Nazi occupation of Greece.

This intensified political warfare to split Bulgaria away from Germany is believed to be a direct outcome of the Teheran conference between President Roosevelt Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Premier Joseph Stalin. Russia, who helped Bulgaria to attain independence in 1878, has long been regarded as a "big brother" to that southern Slavic country. Although the Nazis succeeded in persuading Bulgaria to declare war on the United States and Great Britain they were never able to get the Bulgarians to do likewise against the Russians.

Allied attention is being concentrated on Bulgaria now because it is believed that the people, impressed by the Soviet victories, are eager to withdraw from the war. Popular discontent is reported widespread Pro-Russian elements in the country are known to be gaining strength rapidly. A governmental crisis already has developed, with the Premier and Foreign Minister reportedly resigning.

If Bulgaria can be forced out of the war, it is believed Rumania and Hungary may quickly follow suit. A psychological drive against these satellite states is being intensified as a political preliminary to the all-out Allied military offensive against Germany in the spring.

Deaths of the Day

Arthur W. Wolfe

Arthur W. Wolfe, aged 63 years, of 302 Edgewood avenue, died suddenly from a heart attack, Sunday evening, enroute home from Pittsburgh. Mr. Wolfe had been visiting with relatives in Pittsburgh, accompanied by his wife. They were enroute home, when Mr. Wolfe decided to put chains on the car tires. He was stricken while putting the chains on the tires.

Mr. Wolfe was born April 28, 1880. He came to New Castle from Pittsburgh, where he has been a resident for 10 years. He was the chief engineer at the Lawrence Ice and Storage company.

The body will arrive this afternoon in New Castle, and will be taken to the R. L. Boyd funeral home, North Jefferson street.

The complete obituary and funeral arrangements will be announced tomorrow.

Pasquale DeCarbo

Pasquale DeCarbo, aged 65 years, of 12 Maitland street, died at his home, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, following a lingering illness.

Mr. DeCarbo was born November 23, 1878 in Baia Latina, Italy. He came to America 45 years ago, and was employed at the Carnegie-Illinois Co. Steel Mill for 33 years. He was retired. He was a member of the St. Vitus church, and the King Humbert society.

Preceding him in death was his wife, Mrs. Maria DeCarbo, who died 23 years ago.

He leaves the following children: Mrs. John Russo, Duquesne, Pa.; Mrs. Louise Petrella, Beaver, Pa.; Mrs. Frances Rezcznik, this city; Nicholas DeCarbo, this city; Mrs. Elizabeth Reda, Beaver Falls; Mrs. Armenia Bullano, this city, and Jennie DeCarbo, at home. Also surviving are eight grandchildren.

High mass of requiem for the repose of his soul will be celebrated Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock, in St. Vitus church, and interment will follow in the church cemetery.

The body is at the DeCarbo funeral home, and was taken to the residence, this morning.

Earl Bernard Cummins.

Earl Bernard Cummins, aged 50 years, of 14 West Garfield avenue, prominent local World War I veteran, and salesman for the Pittsburgh Auto Equipment company, died suddenly in his home Saturday night at 11:10 o'clock following a heart attack.

Mr. Cummins had not been well, and was making arrangements to enter the U. S. Veterans hospital at Aspinwall, Pa., for treatment, where he had been a patient a number of times in the past. However, he had been around as usual Saturday, his death coming unexpectedly.

He had been a resident here for the past nine years, coming from Pittsburgh, and had been active in the affairs of the Neshannock Post, No. 315, V.F.W., and Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion. He was a past commander of Neshannock Post, and served on a number of important committees, being chairman of the aviation cadet committee of the department of Pennsylvania. He was a member of the M.O.C., Tent No. 1, of Pittsburgh, and was a past president of the Friday, the Thirteenth club, his death being the first to occur since the club organized. He was also a member of St. Mary's R. C. church.

GERMAN FLEET FAILS TO APPEAR

mercury at all ,they having just come from operations in the southwest Pacific.

Big Guns Open Up

When we were near our objective, our big guns opened up with a terrific din and we went nearer and nearer to the German-occupied coast.

Once a German plane flew over the fleet, and the excitement on board the American ships reached a high pitch. One young American officer dashed down into the wardroom and shouted, "boys, we've been spotted." But he was wrong.

Absolutely nothing happened!

Either the Germans were completely unaware of our movements, which is most unlikely, or they just lay doggo in the fjords—in other words, the Nazis couldn't take it; if they were not hoodwinked, they were intimiated.

In Memoriam

Of Rev. Andrew J. Koonce, who died two years ago today.

"We are quite sure
That He will give them back—
bright, pure and beautiful—
We know He will but keep
Our own and his until we fall asleep."

Sadly missed by his wife and children.

LONG COLUMNS OF NAZIS IN RETREAT FROM KIEV AREA

facturing and communications hub of Kirovograd increased with each passing hour, as dispatches trickling back from the fighting fronts placed the red spearheads at within 10 miles of that city.

(The German high command acknowledged continued Russian assaults over "a broad front" east of Kirovograd, but claimed without confirmation that 68 Soviet tanks were destroyed. DNB, the controlled propaganda agency, transmitted a dispatch which admitted that the reds succeeded in making wedgelike penetrations of German lines "near the Cherkassy railroad station.")

Current Strategy

Observers pointed out that the current Russian strategy, at least in the area west and southwest of Kremenchug, hinges about the widening of wedges driven into the Nazi lines. Red army spearheads, these sources declared, have concentrated on forcing a number of tiny toeholds deep into enemy positions flanking the right bank of the Dneiper. These wedges then are elongated and widened—and finally welded into one large battlefield such as now is threatening to engulf the Nazis along the Dneiper bend.

Field Marshal Fritz von Mannstein's legions, threatened with death of they break ranks, still are attacking along some sectors of the Kiev bulge despite the constant, nerve-shattering red artillery barrage. However, their assaults are breaking up before reaching the Russian lines and heavy losses are being inflicted on the enemy ranks in even these areas, while in most others red artillery already has paved the way for Soviet advances.

OPA Head Explains Why the Government Is Giving

FREE RED POINTS for Used Cooking Fats

"Behind this plan, effective December 13th, is one of our country's most urgent wartime needs," says Mr. Bowles. "Every patriotic American wife and mother is asked to read this statement."

CHESTER BOWLES
Administrator
Office of Price Administration

"WARS are fought with gunpowder. Gunpowder is made from glycerine. Glycerine can only be made from fats.

"Behind those few words lies one of your country's most serious needs. Fats used to be imported in huge quantities from islands of the Far East. Those islands are now in enemy hands. And the government wants the used fats you can save in your kitchen to make mountains of ammunition, medicines, and other battlefield needs.

"Not a Premium on Patriotism"

"These are the facts as they have been pointed out to OPA by the War Food Administration. And they have led to this new plan: 'Two red ration points free when you turn in a pound of used fat to your butcher.'

"This is not a premium on patriotism. It is a way of bringing home to all women the urgent need of kitchen fats to make gunpowder. Moreover, it seems only just to return points for this service, because fats cost ration stamps. Your butcher has been informed of this ruling which went into effect on December 13th."

Chester Bowles

How the Plan Will Work

It's as simple as it sounds. All you have to do is fill up a tin can with used cooking fat and take it to your butcher. You don't need to use a special kind of can—any kind will do. And you don't need to have any specified amount of fat; take it to your butcher whenever the can is full. He will estimate the weight of the tin and give you, cash in hand, 4c and two red points for every pound of used fat you deliver.

The government does not ask for these fats until you've got the cooking good out of them. But when that is done, every spoonful is wanted.

Would it surprise you to learn that just one single tablespoon of fat—just the little bit that is usually washed out of your broilers and roasting pans and skillets—will make five machine gun bullets? Or enough smallpox vaccines for seventy-three men?

Answers to Housewives' Questions

It doesn't matter whether the fat is burned or black—it still makes crystal-clear glycerine.

It doesn't matter whether it's pan drippings, fat from a soup, used shortening, cooking oils, or melted solid fat.

And, finally, it doesn't matter how little you save each day. Every drop is precious.

Saving these fats and turning them in is not an easy job. But it's a lot easier than doing the things our men must do on the battle fronts. Is it too much for them to expect that the wives and mothers of America will perform this task for them—to help put into their hands what they need to win?

They know it is not. They know that all their country has to do is ask—once our women really understand.

Won't you start saving your used fats today?

GERMANY'S PRISON-LABORERS

SOME PEOPLE express amazement occasionally as to how Germany is able to keep up the tremendous civilian production necessary to carry on the war, especially in view of the fact that proportionately not so many women are in war industries in the Reich as in Great Britain. Of course with Allied airplanes busy, Germany's production is beginning to crack at the seams but this cracking is not due to a labor shortage.

The reason for this surprising productive labor power is not difficult to find. Figures published in the Reich at the beginning of the summer were to the effect that Germany had 12,000,000 prisoners within her borders and it is claimed that the number has increased considerably since that time. All of these prisoners are, of course, put to work on the production line.

Therefore with its prisoners Germany has an advantage which the South had early in the Civil War with its slave population which could be kept busy producing food.

Most of the foreign laborers are Poles, Ukrainians and Russians. It is said that French, Dutch and Belgian workers are not so numerous. Labor barracks for these unfortunates, it is said, can be found at the edge of every community.

But it is pointed out by observers that these prisoners who now seem an asset may soon become a liability. When the German army definitely begins to crack every imprisoned worker becomes a potential saboteur.

When Germany is definitely about to crack these twelve or fourteen million war prisoners can become just so many fifth columnists and doubtless will be found in that category. Many thinking Germans are said already to realize this danger but there is little that can be done about it.

PACIFIC TOLL TO INCREASE

That conquest of the Pacific Islands will prove costly in human lives is being stressed constantly by those in high command. This was given emphasis by the experience at Tarawa atoll, where casualties were much greater than had been anticipated. As the campaign progresses, island by island, similar surprises may be looked for.

Recently Secretary Knox declared the major engagement in that area is yet to be fought, and he predicts that it will come soon after the start of the new year. That engagement will see the U. S. fleet engaged with Japan's capital ships which, so far, have had no part in the fighting. This encounter may be costly to the American Navy as well as to the enemy's fleet, Secretary Knox warns.

That Japan is paying the heavier toll is shown in reports by the Red Cross. In the Philippines thousands of wounded Japanese are being hospitalized, being brought there instead of to the homeland to avoid a threat to public morale. Three or four hospital ships arrive in Manila every day, one Red Cross official reported.

TOWARD SINGAPORE

Information that the Japanese are strengthening their Sumatra defenses argues that the sea, air and land forces under Lord Louis Mountbatten are perfecting preparations to point an offensive in that direction.

The Japs have been clever in determining the points where the Allies will strike. Some time before the Gilbert islands offensive they announced that America intended to attack Tarawa. They prepared for that eventuality, but not well enough.

The Sumatra defensive preparations indicate that the British may have decided to retake Singapore before recapturing Burma. Just as in America there is a great desire to rescue the Philippines from the nemy, so in Britain there is impatience to aim all attacks at Singapore. If the people of the Netherlands had the essential armed forces, their first goal would be Java, center of their prewar Pacific empire.

Not only pride would dictate the recapture of Singapore. In occupying that stronghold, the British would be able to bar all of the Indian ocean to the Japs. If American forces arrived in the Philippines at about the same time, Singapore and Manila could sever Japan from sea access to all of the Indies.

In 1941 and early 1942 Japan wrested this territory from the Allies with humiliating dispatch. America and Britain have as early objectives annihilation of the Japs now in possession of this stolen terrain.

SHOCK OF BATTLE

Previous warring generations have never experienced anything remotely resembling the shock of battle that is developing in this conflict. To the terrific slap of the artillery shell as it hits a target has been added the crushing impact of the air bomb.

These contain larger amounts of explosives of greater efficiency than was poured into projectiles in any former war, as have also the torpedoes of the ocean. New patterns have been devised to apply these shells and bombs so that they impart the utmost shock to a city or an area occupied by the enemy.

The results of this have been seen in the devastated cities of Europe and the obliteration of installations such as submarine bases or air fields without infantry attack. The Italians were shocked into surrendering Pantelleria without an attacking foot being set upon the soil of the Italian fortress. United States forces tried to repeat this achievement at Tarawa but the Japs were too deeply dug in, although the barrage contributed heavily to their defeat.

Now comes word that German troops, driven from their defensive positions in Italy by artillery shells and air bombs, are so shaken by the experience that some of them go crazy. Flesh and blood can not endure the terrific onslaught.

The shelterless, the chronically hungry and the embittered victims of Axis ambition are viewed as fearless wreckage of the storm that has engulfed the world. human wreckage that is likely to make tragic the century of reconstruction that is to follow. To these must be added many who have gone through the unprecedented crash of battle and have been thrown off balance by an intolerable trial.

Every time we hear a statesman advocating the rollback subsidy plan we can't help thinking of the famous phrase attributed to Harry Hopkins: "we will spend and spend and elect and elect."

Meat points fluctuate constantly but the fixation of butter at 16 points per pound seems to be irrevocable.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

QUIET ATMOSPHERE HELPFUL

Excessive noise, stimulation and excitement are bad for the child in normal times, and still worse in wartime. I can think of no greater need for the growing child in these trying days than that of a quiet, and unexciting home atmosphere. I wonder whether there ever were so many jittery children and jittery parents as today. My bulletins, "Nervous Habits in the Child," and "The Jittery, Nervous Mother," may be had for postage. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed envelope stamped with three cents for each bulletin desired.

One outstanding cause of jitters in the home is the unwise use of the radio. Just to have the radio going on and on all day for anything that happens to come on the air can not encourage calmness in any one, especially in children under fifteen.

There are wonderful programs of good music on the air which, if not received too loudly, have a wholesome effect on the nerves of children and their parents. Besides, constant exposure to such programs will cultivate a taste for good music in the infant, child and adult. See how the cultural level of America might be lifted if the growing child were exposed to such instead of what they generally hear. Some wise mothers play carefully selected musical selections from records to their babies and young children for a few hours daily.

After school when children come home, they and their parents should enjoy exchanging the experiences of the day. But if the radio is going at full blast, each person must talk louder to be heard, usually getting more upset all the time.

Then the average child from six to twelve will, if allowed, sit for hours at a stretch listening to exciting programs. Perhaps the child is all tense, and even may be gnawing at his nails. His parents who have no concern about the child's nerves and mental health would protest violently if the school expected a child to spend as much time at homework. I can't imagine homework being nearly so harmful to the child's emotions, however. I'm not arguing for homework here; just making comparisons.

One mother writes: "My nine year old boy insists on listening to exciting programs every afternoon for 2 hours." This means he misses the needed play out of doors in the open air and sunshine, with other children.

If your child has this habit, you had better not forbid all programs immediately. Ration them to a third or quarter, requiring him to be outdoors in good weather for a certain portion of the day. Control the child so as to control the dial. As for mealtime, wise parents of growing children keep the radio silent then. They prefer a quiet period when all may enjoy one another in a leisurely atmosphere.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My 18-month-old child refuses to come when called (either to be washed, be fed, or pick up toys, etc.) but just stands with a determined look that says, "Try to make me." Neither coaxing, commanding nor punishing does any good.

A. Don't expect a child so young to come to you when you call. Quietly go to him and patiently induce him to come. These are not cases for commands or punishment. Use punishment only to prevent the young child from doing a few things, not to get him to cooperate. Make pleasant what you want him to do for you. This basic principle I develop at length in my special bulletin on "Stubborness" to be had by writing me at 235 East 45th st., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Q. Is it advisable to let the baby from 9 to 20 months "cry it out" in the baby pen?

A. As a rule, it is not. A better way is to go to him for a short while after brief intervals, gradually lengthening these intervals over the next few weeks.

Q. What patriotic slections would you recommend that children of school age memorize?

A. The National Anthem, the preamble to the Constitution and the oft-quoted portion of the Declaration of Independence.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Sen. Van Nuys, D., Ind., referring to the nation-wide liquor shortage: "It looks like there is hoarding by the distillers, by the wholesalers and by some individuals."

LONDON — Brendan Bracken, British minister of information: "Not until we see signs of morale cracking in the German army will we be able to define when the war will end."

NEW YORK — Lieut. Gen. A. A. Vandergrift, new commandant of the Marine Corps: "Japan has prepared her defenses well. The job of breaking through is one for a team—a big team. It calls for the best kind of teamwork not only among our army, navy, marine corps and coast guard, but among all of the Allied forces in the Pacific."

WASHINGTON — Sen. Ellender, D., La., in urging a "vacation" for congress until after the first of the year: "The senate is in no mood to legislate on a matter as important as consumer subsidies. Senators are mad at each other. The senate has converted itself, in effect, into a judicial instead of a legislative body."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:35. Sun rises tomorrow 8:13.

Science is trying to devise something that will prevent teeth decay. Bet no dentists are in that effort.

So far no ban has been put on the writing of letters threatening to sue people if they don't pay their bills.

The bird who says he can drink it or let it alone don't like it when he can't get it.

"Riches," read the teacher, "'take unto themselves wings and fly away.' Now, what kind of riches does this writer refer to?"

No hands were raised, and as she stared around the class, only blank looks met her gaze.

"Surely someone can answer a question like that. Robert, what kind of riches did the writer mean?"

Robert hesitated a moment and then answered: "Ostriches, ma'am?"

Come to think of it, wouldn't it be nice if we could return to the days when the customer was always right.

Very often when a man is a candidate for office he will agree to most anything and will make no argument, but one cannot very well think of what is on his mind.

Giving a time for the end of the war is just like a lot of other guessing.

Sunday school teacher: "Mary, can you tell me where good little girls go?"

"Yes, ma'am. To Sunday school."

"Good. And where do bad little girls go?"

"Down to the Union station to see the soldiers come in."

You are indeed naive of you believe that any man who employs lies and trickery to get elected will scorn lies and trickery after he is elected.

We haven't heard anything about oxtail soup lately. We don't care if we don't.

And now we are told that there is a scarcity of dogs to give as Christmas presents. That will cause a howl.

It was visitors' day and a small boy timidly approached a stern-looking sergeant and asked: "Have you got a wife?"

"No, sonny, I haven't."

"Then who tells you what to do?"

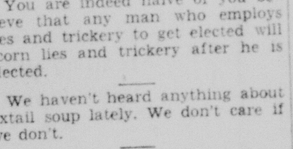
O. K.! So you think you are smart. Tell us which end of the cow gets up first?

Making a policy and carrying it out successfully are often two very different things.

In a western boom town, a weary defense worker, his tired, bedraggled wife, and pert three year old youngster entered the Grill. After finding seats, the man ordered two straight whiskies.

"Hey, Pa," said the kid, "ain't mother drinking?"

It looks as if Senator Guffey isn't very popular in Washington. It looks like the end of Guffy at the next election.



The world thinks America should play Santa Claus. Somebody must, and our country is the only with years of practice.

There are still too many cats running around to make some people feel like eating rabbit.

In Washington wholesale prices of sausage have been established. Nothing was said about what sausage is to be made of.

It's not hard to tell what some people want for a Christmas gift. They tell what they want.

He is the kind of a moralist who would hurry up to point out that pure white snow gets dirty almost as soon as it falls on the city streets.

People who used to get automobiles for Christmas gifts will be satisfied with a tire this year.

If the minority party is wise they will nominate a good loser next year.

College is nothing but a skin-game: sheepskin, coonskin and pig-skin.

No doubt there are some Christmas trees that have been cut that will not be sold. From the number of them we see it don't look like a shortage.

And yet on the other hand, your son is not one-half as tough as you hoped to become when you were his age.

And, it is well to remember that civilized people are those whose heads are cleaner on the outside.

And, on the other hand, how comfortable movie seats would be if people had only one arm?

The way to make friends and influence people is to be born with what it takes, and nobody can tell you what it is.

Two men from an American Air Corps squadron on leave were walking thru a cemetery in Scotland when one happened to notice an epitaph on a tombstone which read: "Lord, she was thin."

This seems so unusual that they hunted up the sexton and asked him about it. "Ah, weel," replied the sexton, "the sculptor went over too near the edge of the stone and didna leave room for the 'e'."

DO MEN LIKE WOMEN EXECUTIVES?

"I am in my late twenties and am about to assume an important executive position but my friends worry me with their predictions that this will make me unpopular with men. What do you think?" —Martha S.

Answer: My observation has been that the average career girl possesses superior knowledge about nearly everything except social magnetism. She is so used to being domineering in the office that she is likely to remain bossy after she leaves it—even to her men friends. And the typical man of force dislikes a domineering woman. On the other hand, the weaker types of males strive to become parasites upon successful career women or women executives who loom before them as towers of strength.

When you leave your desk each evening, shut your ego up in it along with your other professional sundries. So schedule your life that when you leave the building, you step out into a world of relaxation and play.

The responsibilities of an executive are heavier and more wearing than those of a mere clerk or stenographer. In consequence she is likely to leave her work with a weariness that will be so aggravated by a long trip home that she will feel no desire to go out and divert herself after dinner. Any housekeeping chores added to this ordeal would be fatal to an evening playtime.

Therefore, if she can afford it and can do so conveniently, the ideal place for her to live is in a hotel as near her office as possible. If not a hotel, an apartment near a restaurant where she can be served good meals without any effort on her own part. Of course, if she is living with her family and she can persuade them to live near her office or at least near a good means of transportation, her problem will probably be simpler, provided family life involves no grinding domestic responsibilities for her.

If relieved of both a tiring trip home and domestic work after she reaches home, she can spend after each dinner an hour of relaxation leaving her fit to enjoy evenings of diversion which worthwhile men will want to share with her.

Question: Which is correct: She wrang or wrung the clothes. "He has drank or drunk his milk"—P. J.

Answer: She wrung the clothes. He has drunk his milk. There is nno such word as wrang. Drunk is the past participle of drink. Drank is the past tense.

Tomorrow — Should Girl Play "Hard To Get"?

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Things are looking up.

According to a report by the superintendent of St. Elizabeth's, Washington's Federal mental hospital, fewer people in the capital are going nuts now than a year ago.

The chacnes are that if the improvement continues it will be quite possible to live in Washington until the end of the war with your mind even less than slightly impaired.

It isn't quite sure whether this is due to an improvement in living conditions or because government workers are getting hardened.

"Some improvement is due to the fact that the worst cases of mental instability have been weeded out by time and circumstances," says the report. "Many of the potential and actual misfits have gone back home, where it is easier to be a misfit."

Excuse me just a minute.

It's easier to be a misfit at home?

Who says so? Has the Superintendent of St. Elizabeth's ever been a misfit at home?

I think of all places in the world home is the worst place in which to be a misfit.

I tried it when I was a kid.

But mother said there weren't any square holes in our house for square heads to fit in, so I ran away and became a newspaperman.

However, that's a different story but it illustrates the point.

To get back to Washington.

One of the most difficult problems there, according to the report, is the fact that there are more women than men in the nation's capital.

"This maldistribution of sexes reduces the moral standard of women" is the finding.

"Since when has moral standard been determined by quantity or opportunity rather than by principles and character?" I ask as a completely incompetent but rather inquisitive layman.

And "the male population is generally older than the female, making for more stability", which is certainly completely contrary to my observations in New York's night clubs where "old men's darlings" are very much in evidence and the report's "stable men" do a most unstable rhumba.

But then, what's sanity in Washington may still be nuts anywhere else.

Taxation in Postwar Era

A statement by Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, made during the depression, several years before the national defense program started, said:

"Our experience during the past five years has proven conclusively that government spending can only supply temporary relief... The real remedy for unemployment is the creation and maintenance of working opportunities for working men and women in private industry.

"There should be a complete revision of our tax laws. Taxes provide the greatest single contribution to the cost of living today. It makes no difference whether these taxes are paid in the first instance by big business, industry, the public utilities, the railroads, the banks or the insurance companies—it is the ultimate consumer who pays them in the end... There is abroad the general belief and conviction that the tax policy of the government coupled with its apparent attitude toward industry, is preventing the normal expansion of American industry."

How much truer will those words be after this war is over than they were before the defense program started. A continued policy of progressive taxation which increases step by step to a point of virtual confiscation of earnings, actually prohibits the investment of savings in industrial expansion that will be needed to furnish employment after the war.

A tax plan should be prepared now to take effect immediately the war stops which would offer incentive to every workable dollar to get out and take a chance in the production field, thereby creating jobs and steady employment. That is the only way to save democracy in this country.—Enid, Okla., News.

HIS CHRISTMAS

His Christmas went a month ago
Unto a place we may not know,
Where cannons roar and rifles flame,
Upon a ship we may not name.

His Christmas parcel, cut to size,
Had neither pudding, fruit nor pies.
But was by regulation stripped
To gifts which could be safely shipped.

Yet, we had snuggled in between
A gift, more to be sensed than seen:
The love which set all eyes ablaze
And marked his happier Christmas days.

And when the bells ring out at eve,
And the Lord's supper we receive,
We'll kneel together and in prayer
Share Christmas with him over there.

Have you finished your Christmas shopping, as the government asks? If you have you are a good citizen, loyal and considerate of others.

Elmer Davis Displeased With McNutt Staff
Handling Of News On Draft Status Is Issue
Nelson Still Raves Over Russian Treatment

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Dissatisfaction of Office of War Information Chief Elmer Davis with the manner in which Paul V. McNutt and his War Manpower commission public relations staff handle news of the agency runs far deeper than the voicing of complaints by newspaper correspondents.

To the OWI head the confusion and "blind spots" in national understanding of the draft program represents one of the information agency's outstanding failures in keeping the public apprised of war-born domestic developments. Davis has been a consistent advocate of an open and above-board public relations policy in all government agencies, barring only disclosures of a military nature.

Thus, when newsmen finally took their complaints of news suppression to Davis in the form of a formal protest, he was quick to seize the opportunity and take the case direct to McNutt and his staff of public relations aides.

And, in an effort to assure a constructive change in WMC's handling of the draft story, Davis made his complaints of news handling available to reporters in the hope publication would bring pressure for a change to those within the WMC who are charged with the responsibility of keeping the public informed on draft developments.

McNutt smarted and fumed over the disclosures, but to Davis and the reporters concerned it represented a distinct victory in their efforts to keep the American people informed—even over the obstructionist tactics of some federal agencies.

Cabinet members and other high Washington officials sometimes find themselves in embarrassing positions when they get calls on their private telephone lines and someone happens to be present who should not hear the conversation.

Recently, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox found himself in a really awkward position when the buzzer of his prizate line sounded and he had to answer while at least 50 newspapermen sat around waiting for him to resume one of his weekly news conferences. Inadvertently, Knox mentioned the name "Harry" as he explained he would rather not talk because of his guests.

A few minutes later he got another call, this from some other important person, and again he had to explain why he couldn't talk. The reporters guffawed at his predicament and even Knox smiled, although he appeared a trifle upset.

The secretary did not reveal who "Harry" was.

The War Production Board has tackled the problem of dwindling infants' and children's clothes supplies and may turn up with a solution much to the relief of harassed parents. Mothers have been unable in many cases to find underwear, shoes, socks and other garments for their young children and babies. WPB, however, now has a specialist in the field. Mrs. Crete Dahl, former children's magazine editor, at work on finding out the whys and wherefores of shortages. Furthermore, WPB said, relief will become apparent in stores in time for this winter's shopping.

Reporters who have talked with WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson are impressed by the warmth of feeling Nelson shows for Russia as a result of his extensive trip there a few weeks ago. Apparently as sold on the U. S. S. R. as former Ambassador Joseph E. Davies, Nelson asserts he was given the most effusive reception by the Soviets, was taken everywhere he wished to go and even was invited to the front. Nelson refused invitations to the fighting zones, however, explaining to the Russians that he didn't want to waste the time of the red army commanders that his main concern was studying Russian production methods and that any visit to the eastern front would be merely to indulge his personal curiosity. One reporter brought two paper plates to the news conference to present to Nelson as a gag in connection with his now famous plate-breaking exchange of formalities with the Russians. A Soviet official broke one plate with a huge fist to show Nelson the regard with which the Russians hold Americans. Nelson then broke two plates in return, but cut himself in the process. The WPB chief accepted the paper plates with a laugh. "Will they splinter?" he chuckled.

POCKET BOOKS

A stout lady dropped her pocket book on the side walk the other day. It flew open and the contents scattered.

Talk about a collection of stuff. It was a good rival for a boy's pocket.

The most noticeable things were pills. There were a lot of vitamin pills and reducing pills. What lot of pills.

Poor stout lady!

She was suffering from obesity. She was many pounds overweight.

Obesity is one of our most dangerous diseases. She should have medical care to look after her diet.

Instead of taking vitamin pills she should be eating the right kind of food in the right amounts for her.

She could perhaps lose about two pounds per week. After she would reach the proper weight she would look better and feel better. She would probably not be in so much danger.

The World and the Mud Puddles

SOMETHING TO CONSIDER

Posed by Wheeler McMillen, editor of the Farm Journal and a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, is one of those absorbing questions that can be argued for years without any clear cut answer. McMillen seems to think that the United States is still in the depression, but that the fact is "covered up by the war." Question: Did the depression end with the so-called war-boom, or is it still with us unseen?

Few persons are so careless of the facts as to dispute a statement that the depression had not been ended when Hitler marched into Poland on September 1, 1939. But the visible depression did begin to end soon afterward. American factories busied themselves about the business of arming this country and later of supplying munitions to Great Britain. But the time of the attack upon Pearl Harbor, depression had been forgotten in the rush to get ready for the inevitable.

Certainly the New Deal and its collectivism never conquered the depression. At least ten million persons were out of jobs in 1939, the public debt was mounting, and with no great surge in industrial recovery to show in consequence. Government relief was a necessity under New Deal economies and there is nothing to show that it would not be just as necessary if the system was to prevail after the war.

Whether or not the war ends the depression probably will not be decided until several years after the advent of peace. The first peacetime years probably will be relatively prosperous because of the great reservoir of buying demand. But afterward will come the test. If the war has not taught us that full employment is an essential of a solvent, going economy, and ife we cannot learn that economic freedom is a prerequisite of full employment, then the depression will not have been ended.

Look, Congress

Last summer congress abolished the National Resources Planning board, the agency headed by the president's uncle, which was going to give this nation complete social security—from the cradle to the grave. Congress ordered the N. R. P. B. to go out of business by August 31. Its budget was somewhere between $1,000,000 and $1,250,000 a year, a large part of it, obviously, in pay roll.

Now it has been revealed that of the 29 full-time key executives with the N. R. P. B., 22 of them are still on the federal pay roll—transferred to other federal agencies, presumably at the same high salary schedules they were on. Of the remaining 7, 2 went into the army and the other 5 are now with other planning organizations.

But the revelation of their new connections also included the kind of money they were drawing to plan cradle-to-the-grave security. They were getting salaries ranging from $5,600 a year to $8,750 a year.

Three of them got $5,600—which is more than $107 a week.

One drew $6,400—which is more than $123 a week.

Eight were paid $6,500—$125 a week.

Three got $6,750—more than $129 a week.

One got $7,500—more than $144 a week.

Two got $8,000—more than $153 a week.

Two got $8,250—more than $158 a week.

Two got $8,750—more than $168 a week.

All of these 22 are still on the federal pay roll. Is anyone naive enough to believe that they are drawing less than they were formerly?

Congress thought it was doing a great job in abolishing the N. R. P. B. But the planners plan far better for themselves than they do for the people. The pay roll proves it.—Indianapolis News.

DOUBLE TALK

The pretty matron was trying to get a few things for her new home and had hauled her husband along to help carry the purchases.

They went into a hardware store to look at some stoves. The salesman showed her several kinds, but she didn't like any of them.

"What I want," she said finally, "is a little oven."

The salesman looked apprehensive.

"You can't get that here," he said, "especially while your husband is along."

Since Eleanor went to the South Pacific there has been no further complaints about "too little and too late."—Chanute, Kans., Tribune.

A GOLDEN IDEA

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(INS)—For three years, Donald William Duncan, of Mission, B. C., stuffed gold dust, stolen from a Yukon mining company, into his wife's washing machine. Then he shipped the machine out of town. Mounted Police arrested Duncan, who was convicted. The washing machine was found to contain $10,000 worth of the precious metal.

AGREE ON PLAN FOR RETURN OF WAR REFUGEES

U. S., Britain and Russia Form Plan To Force Axis To Permit Return

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(INS)—The United States, Britain and Russia were in agreement today on a plan to force the Axis nations to permit war refugees to return to their homes after the war ends.

Assistant secertary of state Breckinridge Long disclosed that the "Big Three" Allied powers had agreed to include this provision in the peace treaty.

The provision was revealed by Long in testimony before a closed session of the house foreign relations committee late last month. He said the United States and Britain have urged all Allied governments to adopt such a declaration.

The assistant secretary of state also disclosed for the first time the recommendations of Anglo-American delegates at the conference on refugees at Bermuda last April. The conference report, he said was withheld for reasons of military security. The recommendations included:

1. Adoption of a revised mandate for the inter-governmental committee on refugees created at Evian, France, in 1938 and "revitalized" at Bermuda as the primary agency for carrying out conference decisions.
2. Efforts to secure neutral shipping for transporting refugees.
3. Negotiations for releasing French and other Allied nationals from Spain.
4. Removal of French children through neutral countries to places of safety.
5. Provisions for feeding and giving financial aid to refugees in Switzerland, Spain and Turkey.

WINTER WEATHER ON SOVIET FRONT

Both Sides Favored As Ground Is Frozen Instead Of Deep In Mud

By NATALIE RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Dec. 13—Late autumn rains and wet, melting snow have been replaced on the Russian front by winter weather and frozen ground, permitting passage of supply trains and free movement of troops.

Contrasted to weather where mud was knee deep on the battle lines, the change to cold and snow has favored the Germans as well as the Russians, although recently captured Nazi soldiers still were wearing summer uniforms and odd collections of clothing, including women's shawls.

The increase in German armored force pressure west of Kiev probably has been due to the firmness of the ground, which again permits tanks and heavy armored cars to operate. New enemy activity also has been noted in the Ukraine, where clear days have replaced rain and fog.

German withdrawal in the Cherniakov area has been costly in men and materials, observers at the front report. The Nazis have been using large quantities of tanks to hold the Soviet forces off, but have been more than matched by Red infantry which, once having taken a position, digs in and hold fast.

The Russians, well clothed, do not mind zero weather and are living up to the saying: "What is healthy for a Russian is death for a German."

Although the United States has used standard time since 1883, it was not enacted by congress until March 19, 1913.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

JANICE GRAHAM TO BE WITNESS

Girl Will Be Star Witness In Case At Mercer In Triple Murders

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 13.—(INS)—Janice Graham, under indictment as an accessory in the Mercer farm triple slayings, will be called as a star witness today at the opening of the trial of William Morell, 20, charged with the three murders.

District Attorney Edwin C. Moon announced that he had supenaed Miss Graham, now free on $5,000 bail, and that she will testify for the commonwealth against Morell.

Morell's attorneys appointed by the court, Hiram M. Drake and John V. Wherry, said the blond girl also would be called for defense testimony in their efforts to save Morell from the electric chair.

District attorney said the present whereabouts of Everett Wilson, who owned the farm where the crimes were committed, were still unknown. The former dairy farmer has not been heard from by court authorities since last Wednesday, when he was reported ill in Chevy Chase, Md.

"We've tried to locate him, but we've been unable to so far," Moon said.

The defense council has also made efforts to locate Wilson.

"We are interested in getting the whole story out in the open," Attorney Drake said.

As long as Wilson remains out of the state, Moon explained, the commonwealth's No. 1 subpena in the case cannot be served against him.

Despite the fact that Morell has made a full confession to the three slayings, he was expected to plead innocent when arraigned today.

Miss Graham, in statements to the police, has reportedly denied hearing the two shotgun blasts that Morell allegedly fired to kill two of the victims, Mrs. Catherine Wilson, 90, Robert McKay, 70, a farmhand.

The girl has also denied witnessing the strangling of Mrs. Helen Wilson, 46.

TWENTY MARINES ACCIDENT VICTIMS

Colliding Planes Release High Explosive Bomb On Group Of Marines

PEARL HARBOR, Dec. 13—(INS) An official court of inquiry today was investigating a mid-air collision between two navy dive-bombers which loosed a high explosive bomb from one of the planes and caused the death of 20 marines and injuries to 29 others.

The bomb burst in the midst of a marine detachment carrying out field maneuvers near Keilii Point on Maui Island southwest of Oahu. Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced in an official statement. It was loosed by one of the two colliding planes, both of which were engaged on regular training exercises.

The pilots of both planes parachuted to safety not far from the scene of the mishap, but their two radio operators were killed in the crash, which occurred last Tuesday.

SLIDE FASTENERS CATCH ON IN ARMY

PHILADELPHIA— (INS) —The slide fastener is helping doughboys in the field today not only on their clothing but in jungle hammocks and sleeping bags.

The Philadelphia quartermaster depot recently described a new "quick-disassembly" feature which eliminates the need for drawing open the slide fastener. Reports from the front say that as a result the soldier can sprint out of the sleeping bag or hammock in a minute's notice and be ready for any eventuality.

Starting with the field jacket, which has proved to be one of the most popular garments ever designed by the army, the slide fastener has come into wide usage.

The range of uniforms using the fasteners covers almost every branch of the army and fits into practically every climate.

PUBLIC CLOCKS ARE PLENTIFUL

Leaving Watch At Home Wouldn't Strand You Downtown Minus Knowledge Of Time Of Day

So you're downtown without your watch, and you just have to know what time it is?

Well, between the clock in the Court House and the one in the First Christian church there are at least ten other clocks to help you out—eleven if you count the one in the City Hall which you can see if you press your nose against the front door you will discover.

Standing right below the court house, you can see the clock in front of a gasoline station across the street, and two or three buildings farther down, the clock in front of a billiards room. It isn't very far until you pass a clock just inside the window of a barber shop, and about fifty feet farther, on in a jeweler's window.

But then for two and a half blocks you have little chance, unless you stop someone and say, "Pardon me but could you tell me..."

At either end of the next block however, there is a bank building with a large clock on the front, and if you look up Mill street before you start down this block you'll find another extending out over the entrance to a jewelry store.

Half-way down the next block you see the time in a store window across the street and then realize that you're standing right under another bank clock. For over half a block you've been able to tell the time by the clock in the spire of the First Christian church and then you find the last clock in a jeweler's window again.

All the different timepieces keep in step too. When you started out near the Court House it was 1:45 and when you end up on the Diamond, it's 1:55. Of course, if you're not doing some dumb thing like counting all the clocks along your way, it may only take you five minutes.

Camp Reynolds Guests Come From All Over Nation

GREENVILLE, Pa., Dec. 13.—Friends and relatives of Camp Reynolds soldiers from every state in the Union and Puerto Rico have stayed in the three guest houses on the post, with more guests from New York and Michigan than from any other states, a survey this week discloses.

Guests are admitted for three days, or longer if the house is not full. The pink and blue rooms are double, and are furnished with two single beds, clothes closet, bureau and lace curtains. The lounge, provided with radio and magazines, is open until 11 p. m. and guests are admitted until 2 a. m. Quiet must be maintained between 10:30 p. m. and 9 a. m.

Mrs. Edith Whiteside operates guest house one, Mrs. Pearl Williams, two, and Mrs. Oliva Martin, three.

Horses Didn't Make Promised Comeback

Autos Everywhere But Not A Horse In Sight In Traffic Activity Here

"Get a horse!" they were saying two years ago, remember?

When gasoline was rationed, and speed limits were set to save tires, and you had to have a priority to get a new car, dire predictions were made as to the future of the automobile. Horses were coming back—they would be pulling delivery wagons, and people would use them to go driving on Sunday afternoons.

So what happened. You take a walk downtown, and the only horses you see are those driven by the Amish, or perhaps a horse and wagon pulling some rubbish through some back streets. On the North Hill you see a boy riding in a pony cart, and people stop to look.

On the other hand, intersections still need traffic lights to keep cars from crashing into each other, and a good many tickets are given for overparking. Maybe you don't take long trips anymore, but chances are you still don't use a horse.

SALVAGE WORK MUCH STRESSED

Excellent Work In War Salvage Collection Being Done At Camp Reynolds

GREENVILLE, Dec. 13.—The collection of tin cans and other tin scrap will feature the continuing salvage and conservation drive this week, starting today, Capt. John W. Riley, Post Conservation Officer, has announced. Capt. Riley also released figures on Camp Reynolds scrap collections for the month of November.

Collection of important war materials during November was as follows: Paper and cardboard, 40,000 lbs.; tin cans, 40,000 lbs.; all types of metals, 75,000 lbs.; kitchen grease, 18,000 lbs.; and bones and meat trimmings, 30,000 lbs.

While these figures indicate the post is becoming more and more conservation - conscious, Capt. Riley looks forward to even larger totals for December.

A different item will be spotlighted each week in the conservation and salvage campaign so that each type of materials being collected will be brought to the attention of post personnel.

Capt. Riley stressed the fact, however, that all types of materials, including waste paper, iron and steel, tin cans, kitchen fats, and rags, would be collected every week regardless of what special item is being publicized.

All scrap should be left at the salvage piles established in every battalion area. Further information on the preparation or collection of scrap can be obtained from the Conservation Officers named for every regiment and organization on the post.

Tin, feature of this week's drive, is of great importance to the war effort. While it is unexcelled for use in packing food and medicines, its value in actual combat can be seen in the following facts:

Every battleship contains 76 tons of tin.

The intricate machinery of a submarine requires more than 3 tons of tin.

Every medium tank uses 35 pounds of tin.

Every heavy bomber needs 48 pounds of tin.

Cannon, machine guns, field radios, telephones and telegraph instruments, hand grenades and bomb sights—all require tin.

No other metal or substitute can serve as well as tin.

Haven Is First Former Chief To Be Elected Mayor

When John F. Haven becomes mayor January 3, 1944, he will be the first person here who served as police chief to win the highest political honor within the gift of the city.

He left private business to become head of the police when Charles B. Mayne became mayor in 1932.

Haven resigned as traffic commissioner during the Charles McGrath administration.

In 1940 he was a candidate for mayor, the honor being won a second time by Mayne.

While chief he installed a detective and identification bureau, police radio and cruiser system.

He was the first police chief to daily provide protection for school children to and from school.

The mayor-elect has not made known any of his future plans. As mayor he will head the department of public affairs and preside as chairman of council.

In business he has been a contractor in plastering and for four years has been in charge of many big jobs.

Holiday Program At Camp Reynolds

Parties And Musical Show Topped Off By Visit From St. Nick, Scheduled

GREENVILLE, Pa., Dec. 13.—Formal dances, special holiday parties and a musical show—all topped off by a visit from St. Nick—are in store for the soldiers at Camp Reynolds, during the Christmas season.

Colorful decorations in the Service clubs and chapels will add to the joy of the holiday week. A spectacular ten-foot Santa Claus, made of old bushel baskets, newspapers and crepe paper, dominates the decorations in Service club one, while two Christmas trees will be on display to make a flesh-and-blood Santa Claus feel at home when he visits Service club two during a Christmas Eve party.

The USO Camp show "Who Goes There?"—a musical review—will give two performances next Thursday night for those who prefer the footlight style of entertainment.

The week before Christmas will be filled with a round of parties, dances, and other special features which will be climaxed by formal dances in Service clubs one and two next Thursday. Both clubs will have informal Christmas Eve parties. A pre-Christmas party for the men of the Fourth Battalion is scheduled for Wednesday evening.

The Camp Reynolds Christmas Carol group, which has appeared in several neighboring communities, will present programs in the Service clubs, chapels, and hospital Red Cross recreation room.

The old-fashioned custom of outdoor carolling will have its modern counter-part outside Service club two where loudspeakers will broadcast carol music.

Chicago Concern Optimistic About Early End Of War

Chicago, Dec. 13.—(INS)—With all the discussion going on as to when the war will end, there was one Chicago concern today, at least, that thought it wouldn't be long now. This was the advertisement appearing in the help wanted columns:

"General manager, $7,500, for factory in Germany; American-born, German lineage preferred; age under 40; immediate employment."

An official of the employment agency which placed the advertisement was reached and said:

"Yes, the ad is on the level. It's for a big food processing company that has about 30 plants in this and other countries, including the one in Germany which presumably the Nazis have been operating during the war."

But now about that "immediate employment?" the official was asked.

"Oh, naturally," he said, "there'll have to be a period of training for the man they engage—but not very long."

Three Planes Are Forced Down In Region By Storm

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 13.—(INS)—A raging snowstorm was blamed today for the crash of three of six twin-engined army training planes on a routine flight from George Field, Illinois, to Cleveland, one near Sharon and two in Ohio.

The storm was so thick that visibility was blotted. The other three planes in the formation reportedly reached their destination.

Cadet John D. Furr rode down with his plane on a farm at West Middlesex after his co-pilot, J. A. Budash, had parachuted. Both were reported injured but not seriously.

A second plane crashed at Alliance, O., and a third crashed and burned about five miles north of Ashland, O., two cadets in the first ship were injured and taken to a hospital. Two cadets in the third plane had parachuted.

Names of the four cadets were not available when word of the crashes was received.

Pittsburgh Jurist Dies In Philadelphia

Judge Stadtfeld, Member Of Superior Court, Collapses On Broad Street

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Judge Joseph Stadtfeld, prominent Pittsburgh jurist and a member of the Pennsylvania Superior Court, was dead today following a collapse on Broad street in Philadelphia.

The jurist was one of Allegheny county's most popular barristers. He was appointed to the state superior court in 1931. Judge Stadtfeld was also acknowledged leader in the practice of civil law. He was twice president of the Allegheny County Bar Association and had served as a vice president of the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Carrie Edmundson Stadtfeld, and two sons Roger M. Stadtfeld and Capt. Harold R. Stadtfeld.

Braddock Landmark Fire Fatal To Three

Woman Dies In Atempt To Rescue Baby; Another Trapped In Room

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Three persons were listed as fatalities in a fire which destroyed "Windy Hill," a large three-story farm home and landmark in Braddock township.

The dead were: Mrs. Erminia Datola, 70; her daughter, Mrs. Dionira Bach, 26, and Mrs. Bach's infant son, Anthony.

Four other members of the family were injured in the blaze and received hospital treatment.

Firemen battling the high winds and ice covered roads, were unable to control the flames which swept through the building in a matter of minutes.

Mrs. Datola was said to have been trapped in her room while her daughter was reported to have perished as she plunged into a smoke, flame-filled room in an effort to rescue the baby. Her husband, Kenneth Bach, carrying and leading three other children, battled flames to escape and was badly burned.

Police Investigate Johnstown Murder

Hunters Find Body Of Dentist's Technician; Had Been Hit With Six Bullets

SOMERSET, Pa., Dec. 13.—(INS)—Police continued their investigation today into the death of George Kern, 58-year-old Johnstown dentist's technician, whose body was found by two Johnstown hunters in Gole township, six miles east of Windber.

The hunters were Walter W. Sell and Clyde D. Meyers.

Police said Kern had been hit by six bullets from a .32 calibre revolver. His checks and an undetermined amount of cash were missing.

Kern lived with a sister, Mrs. Agnes Thomas of Johnstown. Funeral services will be held Tuesday in Johnstown.

INCOME SPURTS TO RECORD HIGH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Abnormal rises in farm income and expansion of factory and armed forces payrolls sent individual income in the Untied States soaring to a record high of $12,775,000,000 for October—a rate equivalent to 153 billion dollars a ear—Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones reported today.

The October figure, Mr. Jones said, was $237,000,000 higher than September income payments, and "was attributable chiefly to a greater-than seasonal rise in agricultural income" as well as the other named factors.

The annual income level shown by the October figure contrasted with an annual level in September of $150,456,000,000, and $130,032,000,000 in October, 1942.

Girls Learn To Cook In Spite Of Rationing

Rationing or no rationing, high school home economics classes must go on, and so far they've managed pretty well.

The classes are alloted points on the basis of the amount of food they used last year at this time. Restrictions have made no difference in their regular schedule of work, except that the really scarce foods, and the ones which take the most points are used in demonstrations only, not in class work.

Divided up into little "family" groups, the girls are given points and then do their own marketing, being graded on their ability to plan and buy according to plan. Every so often, when leftovers have piled up in the refrigerator, the girls don't buy anything at all, bu plan menus around the food which is at hand.

EDENBURG

The Edenburg Womans club has arranged for a tureen dinner at the home of Mrs. Harry Filby on the Youngstown road Thursday evening at 6 o'clock.

SEVENTH WARD

PUBLIC COOPERATION HELPS IN DELIVERY OF CHRISTMAS MAIL

Patrons of the Mahoningtown post office when mailing their letters and cards, are requested to separate the mail for delivery in Mahoningtown, New Castle, and district, and use the separate slots as marked in the post office for that purpose.

Ed. McBride, superintendent states that Christmas mail being sent to destinations within this state and this district should be mailed as soon as possible, and no later than the 15h, to ensure Christmas delivery.

Soldier mail being received during this Christmas season is adding considerably to the volume of mail. Mr. McBride says that about 400 letters from soldiers to relatives in the ward were delivered Saturday.

Cooperation from the public will help the office force and letter carriers in the dispatch and delivery of mail, especially during this rush season.

BRIEF NEWS OVER STATE

HARRISBURG—A two-year-old was pointing out pictures to his older sister. "That a man," he said. "That's not a man," she rejoined. "That's Hitler."

MARIETTA—Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Amand celebrated their golden anniversary with all their wedding attendants present.

DANVILLE — It cost Charles Burkey, of Danville, $20 for shooting a pet grey squirrel which residents on his street had been feeding for many months. A game warden arrested him.

VILLANOVA — President Roosevelt's interpreter at the "Big 3" conference at Teheran was a Pennsylvanian. He was Charles E. Bohlen, of Villanova, a career diplomat.

BETHLEHEM—Lehigh university boasts a library containing more than 250,000 volumes.

STATE COLLEGE — Record Christmas tree production in Pennsylvania should avert a threatened Yuletide shortage, in the opinion of Frank T. Murphey, professor of forestry extension at Pennsylvania State college. Three of the largest producers are Indiana, Susquehanna and Columbia counties.

CARLISLE—During the battles on Gudalcanal medical men risked their lives time and again to help the wounded, related Lt. John M. Bloombergh, of Boston, who was sent to the Carlisle barracks hospital to convalesce. In his own company, he said, two of the 18 medical men were killed.

NORRISTOWN—Mrs. Ethel M. Wilmer, of Norristown, received her "best Christmas present ever" long before the holiday. It was a letter from her son, Marine Corporal James Wilmer, in a Japanese prison camp. He wrote that he was "making out fairly well."

HOLLSOPPLE—Walter G. Moore, of Hollsopple, R. D., blind for eight years, has given his ninth quart of blood as his contribution to the war effort. "It's the least anyone who can't go into service can do," he said.

LETTERS FROM HOME ARE 'SECRET WEAPONS'

RANDOLPH FIELD, Texas—(INS)—Take it from fighter pilots who have flown 50, 60, 70 and in some cases, more than 100 combat missions against the Germans and Japanese—a letter from home frequently determines whether a pilot will have a good or bad German or Jap-hunting day.

Combat veterans returned to Randolph Field's central instructors' school invariably point out that they could tell how things were going to go on almost any given day by the mail that did, or didn't get through to them while they fought in North Africa, in Sicily, on Attu or in the South Pacific. One of them, First Lieut. Justin O. Henley, a veteran of the North African and Sicilian campaign, summed it up this way:

"If you had mail just before a mission, you felt great. You went looking for trouble and you were very sure of yourself. If you didn't, you felt sluggish and not quite as sure of your plane, your guns and yourself."

Lake Eyre, located in Australia, is more than 100 miles long and 50 miles wide, and it consists of solid salt, which is said to be thick enough to support a truck.

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR TRUST COMPANY HEAD

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held today for William C. McEldowney, 76, president of the Washington Trust Company, who died in West Penn hospital after a short illness.

McEldowney became co-founder and director of the Washington Trust Company in 1902 and has been its president for many years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hester McEldowney, a sister and brother.

Mothers! Watch Out For Epidemic Colds

With so many doctors being called to the colors, you must be more careful than ever before about your family's health. So this should be interesting news to you . . . Certified results of medically-supervised tests among 2650 children show that those who followed Vicks Plan had

FEWER COLDS . . SHORTER COLDS

Put VICKS PLAN To Work Today!

Right in your own home this simple, easy-to-follow home guide may do less—or it may do even more for you and your family than this remarkable record indicates. But right now—this Vicks Plan is certainly worth trying at once! Get full details in your package of Vicks.

BRIEFLY, HERE'S WHAT YOU DO:

Observe A Few Simple Health Rules. Live normally. Avoid excesses. Eat simple food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Avoid crowds and people who have colds.

IF A COLD THREATENS, put a few drops of clinic-tested Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril at first sniffle or sneeze. Use as directed in package. This specialized medication is expressly designed to aid your natural defense against colds—and if used in time, Va-tro-nol helps prevent many colds from developing. (Even when your head is all stuffed up from a mean head cold, Vicks Va-tro-nol relieves sniffly, sneezy distress, makes breathing easier.)

WHEN A COLD STRIKES, or slips by precautions, rub clinic-tested Vicks VapoRub on back, as well as on throat and chest at bedtime. VapoRub penetrates to the cold-congested upper bronchial tubes with soothing medicinal vapors. It stimulates throat, chest, and back surfaces like a warming poultice. This penetrating-stimulating action works for hours to relieve miseries of colds . . . invites restful, comforting sleep!

NOTE: If the miserable symptoms of a cold are not relieved promptly—or if more serious trouble seems to threaten—call in your family doctor right away.

TIME SAVING IDEA WINS WORKER $700

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—(INS)—A suggestion that speeded fabrication of naval patrol vessels has earned a $700 award for Herman Vander Nesse, veteran employe of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Co.

Vander Nesse was credited with bringing about the use of clamps and levers to force large ship plates over forms in place of the prescribed method of heating the plates several times to form them and then using an additional 35 hours of torch heating on each pair of plates. Vander Nesse has been an employe of the company since 1913.

The first technical school in Europe was founded by Saint Jean Baptiste de LaSalle, a French priest, who was canonized in 1900 by Pope Leo XIII.

HOW TO GET A LOAN ON YOUR JOB

Borrow up to $300 quickly, simply—No endorsers needed

IF YOU ever need some extra cash—$50, $100, $200 or more, here is a plan to help you. You merely tell us about your problem and choose the payment plan that suits you best. No endorsers required, no wage or salary assignment taken. If you have a job, you are welcome to apply for a salary, car or furniture loan up to $300. Get the money you need quickly and privately—and repay in monthly instalments to fit your budget.

$50 for one month for $1.50

Instalments shown in the table below include principal and interest. Charges are made only for the time you have the money. The sooner you repay the less your loan costs. At our rate of 3% per month, a $50 loan costs $5.38 when repaid in six monthly instalments of $9.23 each. A $50 loan repaid in four monthly instalments of $13.45 each costs just $3.80; if repaid in one month the cost is only $1.50.

Solve your problem here

You may borrow to clean up old bills, pay taxes, help relatives, get medical or dental service, take a training course, lay in coal—for almost any purpose. If you have a money problem, phone, write or visit Household Finance.

Coming Holiday Periods Are Worst Traffic Menace

Despite Driving Restrictions Experts Fear Increase In Auto Mishaps

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—If you plan to drive a car over the Christmas and New Years holidays this year, the accident "cards" are stacked against you, warns James S. Kemper, nationally known safety leader. Every potential accident producing factor will be in highlight.

"Coming on Saturday, as these holidays do this year," Mr. Kemper said, "we can expect an even greater number of accidents than we would otherwise anticipate. Accident statistics show that December, with its long hours of darkness, is the peak month for fatal accidents, and that December 24 and 25 are the peak days for the whole year. Friday, Saturday and Sunday are the peak days in the weekly summaries. With all thes factors exerting their influence simultaneously, it is apparent that the 1943 holiday weekends present a real hazard."

Judging from past experiences, he said, the hours of greatest danger in any week are from 4 p. m. Saturday to 4 a. m. Sunday. During this period, which accounts for only 7 per cent of the time, 18 per cent of the fatalities can be expected.

"In spite of restrictions on drivings," he declared, "we can expect a concentration of traffic over the holiday week-ends. Undoubtedly the holidays will be observed in many war plants as well as less essential industries. More people will be freed from the strenuous effort of their occupation and the natural tendency will be a general let down. This invariably results in an increase in careless driving, more driving under the influence of liquor, lack of attention and unsafe speed.

"With these factors to be reckoned with it is obvious that unless something is done, a good many war workers, service men and others important to our war effort will find the holidays a sad occasion as traffic accidents take their toll. The important question is—what can we do about it? All the warnings in the world from accident prevention organizations can do no good unless the people who are actually driving automobiles heed those warnings.

"The best of all rules for holiday driving is: Don't drive unless absolutely necessary. If you must be on the streets, particularly in the evening, drive with extreme care. Resolve to look out for the other fellow as well as yourself. Do your share to make this Christmas the best possible for everyone."

MOVIES NIGHTLY ON GUADALCANAL

GUADALCANAL, Dev. 13.—(INS)—There are now more than 75 movies operating every night on Guadalcanal—more than in most American cities!

This was the figure given today by Captain Benjamin Bosley, army special service officer in charge of all motion picture distribution on the island.

Captain Bosley, a 55-year-old Chicago real estate man who enlisted in the last war as a private, said that every projector and every film available was used seven nights of the week.

Could Use Many More

"We could use five times that many if we could get them," he states. Many men on the island are in isolated spots, and we don't have enough projectors or films to go around.

"It's impossible to overstate the importance of movies to the men out here. Without their homes, without clubs or dances or girl friends, without any of the things they used to enjoy—movies become their one relaxation.

This correspondent can attest to the overwhelming importance of movies here. At a showing several nights ago a driving tropical downpour made a lake out of the outdoor area where some 600 marines were watching a class B picture. Not more than 100 men left. The rest sat through the deluge, right to the end.

Many Movies Are Old

Many movies are old by the time they get here. Projecting equipment deteriorates under tropical weather, and there are frequent breakdowns and reel rewindings that cause lengthy interruptions. Some of the sfreens, improvised out of bed sheets or target cloth, reflect bad images, and sound equipment occasionally breaks down, into unintelligible dialogue.

But the men realize the difficulties of getting any movies here at all (recently they have seen some films even before they were released to the states), and they cheerfully sit through any show, no matter how disjointed.

The average camp movie is a far cry from a center aisle seat at the Music Hall. Men sit on ammunition cans, buckets, oil barrels, helmets, jungle-made chairs and on the ground.

"Regular business meeting will be held at Post 6-2, Sampson street, Tuesday, 8 p. m. Edwin Johnson, senior warden, will be in charge. Members are urged to attend this meeting because final instructions will be given for the inspection to be held on Wednesday evening.

"Certain OCD workers have been asked to serve as inspectors. They will receive their instructions Monday evening, at a meeting to be held at city hall. If you have been asked to attend this meeting, please cooperate, and be on time because you will get your instructions for the Wednesday night, December 15, 1943, mobilization and inspection of all OCD groups..

"Attention all group leaders: If you get an envelope from this office, and the envelope is marked "do not open until 8:15 p. m." December 15, 1943, we ask your cooperation in obeying the request. This envelope will contain your test incident for the drill. After it is opened, you will carry through the incident through the regular channels."—Frank Sargent, co-ordinator.

Urges Limiting Of Congress And Presidential Terms

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(INS)—U. S. Senator W. Lee O'Daniel (D) Tex., called for re-establishment by "a congress that has both ability and courage" of a real democratic government in America.

Charging that "communists and fellow travelers" long before the war ever started "entered upon the task of making over this government and converting it into a highly socialistic or communistic nation," O'Daniel said the administration tends toward the idea of a government to support the people and not a people to support the government.

The senator in an address before the National Republican club forum Saturday urged enactment of his proposed amendment to the federal constitution limiting service by president and congressmen alike to six years and added:

"The idea that in order to have good government in this country we must select the same man to go to the United States senate from year to year and the same man as president term after term is to my way of thinking absolutely contrary to the fundamental principles of Democratic government.

"I believe that the adoption of such an amendment to the constitution of the United States is the only method whereby we will ever regain control of our government. I believe it is the only method whereby we will ever eliminate the Washington bureaucrats.

"I believe it is the only method whereby we will ever actually return the control of the government to the people...."

Make Scarfs From U. S. Parachutes

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY—(INS)—Fashion note. Silk scarfs are becoming increasingly popular with Fifth troops this season!

That's right—genuine honest-to-goodness silk scarfs.

You can get one:

1. By getting chummy with a paratrooper.

2. Paying through the nose.

If you can coax one of the airborne boys to give you a section of any old or ripped chute, you have as fine a piece of silk as money can buy—if not the only piece.

One parachute will make fine, long scarfs for about a platoon of infantrymen. They're very warm and quite fetching, too, if you think anyone at the front might be interested in how fetching you look.

The most common scarf is from the standard, camouflaged 'chute, in which several colors are combined. However, fancy dressers can hold out for any of the numerous colored chutes used in dropping different kind of supplies and equipment.

Chicago Chef In Army Now

WITH U. S. ARMORED FORCE UNITS, Somewhere in England—(INS)—Staff Sgt. Joseph F. Maslank of 5310 West Byron street, Chicago, Ill., has seen better days. In fact he can remember a great era when he used to see filet mingon every day of the year.

For Maslank is a former chef at the Palmer House and the Chicago Beach Hotel. Filet mignon was his specialty.

Today in this tank outfit Maslank is still a chef—or rather a mess sergeant, as the army crudely puts it—but the filet mignon he used to prepare so tenderly is nothing but a memory.

"That," he said, "you don't get in the army. Instead you get plenty of spam. And no matter who you do to it you can't make spam taste like filet if mignon."

As a tanker, Maslank has forsaken his ornate hotel kitchen for the mobile ranges which follow the Shermans everywhere they go.

"We've dished out food all over the place and carried it right up to the boys in the field in canteen covers — through water, ditches, mud, barbed wire and everything else. No hotel would give you that kind of service."

ARMY NEEDS DEERSKINS; HUNTERS ASKED TO SELL

You think you'll have a rug made from the skin of that deer you got? Not this year, please. The government needs all the deer skins it can get to make gloves, etc., for servicemen, and the Pennsylvania Game commission is asking hunters to sell the hides within ninety days after shooting the animals.

10 THOUSAND NORWEGIANS ESCAPE NAZIS

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—More than 10,000 Norwegians have escaped from their homeland into Allied territory during the past three years, it was disclosed today. For sheer drama their stories rival the most exciting Norse sagas.

Hundreds have ventured the hazardous North Sea crossing—between the Norwegian west coast and Britain—in anything that would sail. And a high percentage of them succeeded

It is from these men, chiefly, that has been re-created the Royal Norwegian Air Force now playing its full role along with the other Allied air fleets arrayed against Nazi Europe. Seventy-five per cent of the RNAF, it was stated, consists of men who escaped from Norway after its occupation and subjection by the Germans.

Some Crossed Europe

When the North Sea escape route became too dangerous, due to constant air-sea patrols by the Germans, the would-be avengers of the rape of their homeland sought other routes to attain freedom and the weapons with which to return.

Some crossed Sweden, Finland and Russia. Others actually managed to cross the entire continent of Europe, even through Germany itself, into Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece—thence to safety across the Mediterranean.

One example of these 1943-style odysseys, though perhaps not completely typical, provides a good picture of the determination driving such patriots first to refuge, then to revenge

Three Go to Russia

It concerns three Oslo boys who tramped cross-country into Sweden; thence were able to fly to Helsinki, Finland. From there they crossed Finland and northern Russia and, after long months, reached Moscow.

From Moscow they rode the Trans-Siberian railroad. But, before reaching their destination on the Pacific coast, their money ran out. And they hitch-hiked part of the way across the most barren stretches of Siberia.

From eastern Russia they went south into China. Near the frontier the truck in which they were riding crashed and one of the young men went to a hospital with a seriously injured spine. The other two kept on.

Makes Long Journey

Some months later the boy left behind resumed the trek. He doubled back via Turkestan, crossed the Mintaka Pass into Afghanistan, and out through the Khyber Pass into India. Then it was another long hitch-hike, hungry and alone, south to Bombay where he caught a ship across the Indian and Pacific oceans to Vancouver.

From there it was only one step, one last step, to the air training camp known as "Little Norway". And today that young Norseman is preparing to come to Britain, as the first step in a return to his homeland.

Bricker's Charges Arouse Discussion

Governor Of Ohio Says New Deal Policies Leading To National Socialism

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The charge of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio that America's present domestic policies will lead this country into national socialism was the subject of much discussion today by political leaders.

Gov. Bricker's charge was made while addressing the annual dinner of the Pennsylvania Society of New York last Saturday night. It was his first speech since announcing his candidacy for the Republican nomination for president.

In his attack on federal bureaucracy, the Ohio chief executive said:

Assume All Power

"Step by step, and with relentless determination, the New Deal has sought to abrogate unto itself all power. Sometimes the method has been arrogant and brazen. Most often it has been cunning and subtle.

"All this has resulted in a loss of confidence by the people in the executive branch of government which has so long dominated them.

"And now, with many in authority talking about rationing far beyond the war, about permanent controls and restrictions, there is a growing loss of this leadership to solve the problems of reconstruction and bring about the full return of American liberty."

Gov. Bricker called for an immediate ending now of the "administrative chaos, confusion, extravagence, incompetence and bureaucratic oppression at home," as a stimulation to the war effort.

National Socialism

The growth of power in Washington under the New Deal has been such, he said, that "unless these policies are reversed by the American people they will unmistakeably lead this nation to national socialism".

"During the past ten years," he said, "our federal government has been launched upon a course leading to the destruction of our form of government and to the loss of our freedom.

"I realize that total war necessities mushroom growth of wasteful bureaucracy and temporary regimentation of the people. But it is high time that we awaken to the fact that the war is being used as an excuse to further many dangerous pre-war policies. We have been growing for a decade upon a growing absolutism.

"We want the shackles of bureaucracy removed and the creative genius of our people act free."

Emphasizing that winning of a complete military victory transcends all our purposes, Gov. Bricker said at the war's end the United States "will take her place in a co-operative organization among sovereign nations.

"A sound American policy in international affairs," he added, "means that we shall deal as a strong independent nation and that other nations of the world shall deal with us on the same basis.

"We want no super-government—no dictatorial state to which we are subservient. We want no authority over us. Nor, do I believe does any other sovereign nation want a central world authority over it."

LIEUT. GEN. PATTON REMAINS AT POST

President Gives Approval Of Continuance, Says Message From Italy

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—President Roosevelt, as commander-in-chief, has given his official approval to continuance of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton as commander of the U. S. Seventh Army.

The chief executive, the White House disclosed today, stopped off in Sicily enroute home by air from the Cairo and Teheran Allied war strategy conferences and officially closed the "Patton incident," which brought the Seventh Army commander a reprimand from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and stirred the nation recently.

Patton slapped a shell shocked, hospitalized American soldier and upbraided another enlisted man in the Sicilian campaign last summer.

The picturesque tank leader was on hand to greet President Roosevelt when the huge four-motored presidential plane landed at the Castelvetrano airport in Sicily. Mr. Roosevelt had Patton and Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the Fifth Army in Italy, ride with him in a jeep after decorating and reviewing U. S. battle veterans.

The view in official circles in Washington was that by this gesture the president had shown his approval of Gen. Eisenhower's action in retaining Patton as a battle commander and head of the Seventh Army in spite of the "Patton incident."

The White House release on Mr. Roosevelt's visit to Sicily was the first time that Gen Patton's whereabouts have been made public since the end of the highly successful Sicilian campaign which he led.

The president, fresh from an aerial trip over North African battlefields, a visit to Malta and a 48-hour conference with Gen. Eisenhower in a villa on the ruins of ancient Carthage, outside of Tunis, flew to Sicily, reviewed a cross-section of troops of the Seventh Army and pinned medals on six heroes of the Fifth Army fighting in Italy.

Landing at Castelvetrano, the chief executive was greeted by Gen. Clark and Patton and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the army air force.

Mr. Roosevelt awarded the Distinguished Service Cross to Gen. Clark for heroism in battle.

Clark was cited for personally leading the repulse of a German panzer attack by eighteen tanks, destroying six of the panzers and sending the others reeling in retreat.

Weather Bureau Says Cold Wave Coming Tonight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The weather bureau today issued cold wave warnings for Middle and North Atlantic states and those in the Ohio valley.

"Temperatures will fall rapidly tonight and the lowest temperatures for the season will be reached early tomorrow morning, ranging from 15 degrees below zero in upper New York and North New England, zero in Northern Ohio and Northern Pennsylvania, 10 to 15 degrees above in Virginia and 15 to 20 degrees above in Tennessee," the bureau said.

"High winds today will diminish tonight. Tuesday will continue cold."

Governor Will Name Another State Justice

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The death of Superior Court Judge Joseph Stadtfeld of Pittsburgh gave Gov. Edward Martin another appointment today to the state's appellate courts.

Two vacancies now exist, one on the supreme court bench and the other on the superior court. The governor was expected to name Fayette County Judge Howard Hughes to the $19,500 a year supreme court post left vacant by the death of Justice William M. Parker of Oil City August 5.

Following his appointment, which would expire at the end of 1944, Judge Hughes was expected to be the Republican candidate at the election November 7, 1944, for a 21-year term. An appointee to the $18,000 a year superior court post was not expected to be named for several months. A judge will be elected for a 10-year term simultaneously when the supreme court vacany is filled.

Bombing Attacks On Highway Across Pontine Marshes

ALGIERS, Dec. 13. — (INS). — Bombing attacks by American Mitchell medium bombers on the roads, railway and airfield at Terracina, on the highway across the Pontine marshes between Rome and Naples, was reported today in an official communique.

P-40 Warhawks, cooperating with the Eighth Army's offensive, struck at Nazi gun positions near Miglianico, and wrecked or damaged 34 enemy vehicles in the Chieti area.

American Invaders bombed Itri, on the Italian west coast, starting numerous fires.

Spitfires patrolled the battle area through Sunday without encountering any enemy planes. Bad weather held air activity to a minimum.

Hope Cold Weather Will Halt Epidemic

200,000 Have Flu In Philadelphia; Care Necessary To Avoid '18 Proportions

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The number of Philadelphians affected by the flu rose to an estimated 200,000 today, as spread of the disease reached epidemic proportions.

Physicians and specialists on respiratory diseases warned that without the utmost care results may approach the disastrous proportions of 1918.

One hope extended by health authorities was that near-zero temperatures expected in the Quaker city area may bring relief from the epidemic.

WORRY OVER NAZI CAUSE OF SUICIDE

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Worry over the fate of her brother, a Luftwaffe lieutenant, was believed today to have been the cause for the suicide of Catherine Gunold, 39, a cigaret ad beauty, who was found in her one-room apartment with four gas jets open.

A former photographer's model, she left a note saying that she was taking her life while "of sound mind and body".

Miss Gunold was quoted by neighbors as having said: "If America wins, I know my brother will die. I don't want him to die, but I want America to win."

A photograph of the Nazi air force lieutenant was found in the apartment.

Open Trial Of Ohio Attorneys

Charged With Unlawful Solicitation Of Legal Business In County

Attorneys Joseph Lipscher and Nicholas Petica, Jr., of Youngstown, went to trial today in court room number one of the Lawrence County court house, charged with unlawful solicitation of legal business and unlawful solicitation to institute a law suit. They are being tried before Judge W. Walter Braham. The case is thought to be the first of its kind to be tried in Pennsylvania, the law covering such actions having been passed in 1939.

The case arises out of an automobile accident May 8, 1942 when Mrs. H. B. Linton, her daughter, her granddaughter, Mrs. Helen Hites and three children were killed at the intersection of highways 19 and 62 near Mercer. It is charged that following the accident the two defendants solicited H. B. Linton to get the civil suit for damages, which was filed later.

H B. Linton was called as the first witness this morning. He testified that the two defendants had talked to him shortly after the accident and had offered to take the case for forty per cent of the settlement. After cross examining him for a while District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson asked to cross examine him in order to bring out statements he made to the district attorney when he told him of the alleged offer of the attorneys.

Mr. Linton admitted having told the district attorney that the two defendants had talked to him since the action was filed and with them was Senator Morris Lipscher, a brother of one of the defendants, and a Youngstown policeman named Kress.

Nurses Sodality Receives Candidates

New Castle Hospital Nurses Have Impressive Ceremonies On Sunday Afternoon

New Castle Hospital School of Nursing Sodality, welcomed eleven new candidates as Sodalists at their reception-services, beautifully conducted, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the chapel of the New Castle Hospital.

Hymns to the Blessed Virgin Mary were sung, and following The Rev Fr. Francis P. King, of St. Mary's church, and spiritual director of the Sodality, delivered an inspiring message, entitled, "To Jesus Through Mary Our Mother." Father King stressed the fact that it was a privilege for all young women to be members of a Sodality, and then explained the obligations incurred as a member of any Sodality. Father King concluded his address by informing the Sodalists that the Sodality today is a means used as a shield for our adolescent youth. His talk was well-received.

Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson blessed the medal, and following the questions and responses, presented the medal and membership cards to the following girls:

Florence Costa, Rita Hayes, Joan Cordone, Josephine Skanesky, Ann Boron, Rose Nastas, Margaret Leyschock, Veronica Fratz, Stella Kolodziejski, Ann Mastrian and Mary Ann Stefanak.

The candidates were presented by Margaret Buckley, vice-prefect of the Sodality.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament with Rev. Fr. Francis P. King, in charge, brought the services to a close.

Mrs. Frances Colao was the organist during the services.

The Shrine of the Blessed Virgin Mary was beautifully arranged for the services, with fresh flowers.

The program presented was as follows: hymns, sermon, blessing of medals, questions and responses for admission, Act of Consecration; Reception of Medals and Membership cards; Ave Maria, by Sisters of St Francis; hymn, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament; hymn and recessional.

President May Make Personal Report On Trip

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The White House disclosed today that President Roosevelt very likely will personally report on his historic conference at Cairo and Teheran before a joint session of congress upon his return to Washington.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early told reporters that the chief executive was prepared to accept an invitation from the house and senate, should one be tendered.

Sen. Scott Lucas (D) Ill., already has proposed informally that Mr. Roosevelt duplicate the procedure adopted by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who addressed congress upon returning to Washington from the meeting of foreign ministers in Moscow.

Daylight Attack Made On Germany

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—A new large-scale daylight attack against military targets in Northwest Germany was carried out by heavy bombers of the Eighth United States Army Air Force today and was followed by Allied raids on objectives in Northern France.

According to the London Evening News, the new American four-motored attack probably was design to catch German fighter defenses not fully prepared and recovered after Saturday's terrific American onslaught against Emden, which cost the enemy 138 fighter planes.

Initial announcement of the latest in the mounting series of American daylight assaults against Germany did not reveal the actual targets.

RECAPPING EQUIPMENT IS SAVED BY FIREMEN

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Efficient firemen were credited today with saving $30,000 worth of recapping equipment and a dozen automobiles and trucks at a five-alarm blaze at a Goodrich retail store in Pittsburgh.

A quanity of tires, mostly truck and tires recapped or left to be recapped, were destroyed in the shipping and receiving department where the fire was centered but damage could not be estimated.

Damage caused by a fire at a Dormont fur shop was estimated at $5,000. A short circuit in an electric sewing machine was blamed for the blaze.

'SOCIETY'S TENOR' DIES FROM STROKE

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Rafael Diaz, 58, former tenor with the Metropolitan Opera Company, was dead today after suffering a stroke in his home. He made his debut at the "Met" in 1918, and remained with the company for the next 18 seasons.

Sometimes called "society's favorite tenor," Diaz first aspired to be a pianist, but after discovery of his voice, he abandoned the piano and made his American debut as a singer at Boston in 1911.

ALLIES ADVANCE DESPITE FURIOUS COUNTER-ATTACKS

position with the German left flank secured by the Adriatic and the right flank anchored in the Maiella mountains, some of which are 8,000 feet higher.

Defending this fifteen-mile stretch Field Marshal Albert Kesselring has the 90th panzer grenadiers and the coal sector, the 26th panzer division in the center and the battered Nazi 65th infantry division on the right, in addition to crack Alpine troops stationed in the mountains themselves.

If the Canadian troops on the Eighth flank can break through to Ortona and reduce the coastal anchor of that defense the will have maneuverable flat ground for some distance which might enable them to flank the Germans out of position further to the south.

In the central sector of the Eighth Army front, it was announced that General Montgomery's advance now has closed the Ortona-Orsogna road itself to enemy traffic, although the actual German defense line parallel with that road is still unbreached.

Symptoms Of Jitters

(Enemy propagandists betrayed unmistakable symptoms of jitters over the expected Allied attacks. The Paris radio, which operates under strict German supervision, was heard in London broadcasting an assertion that Lieut.-Gen. Mark Wayne Clark's fighting Fifth Army already has launched a new assault in the Venafro area, near the center of the line. (The Nazis themselves announced for the second time the evacuation of the pivotal mountain village of Mignano, 10 miles southeast of Cassino, but still there was no confirmation from Allied headquarters.)

In apparent attempts to jab the Allies off-balance and thus postpone any large-scale onslaught until the last possible minute, Nazi commanders hurled one counter-thrust after another at both the Fifth and Eighth armies. Each attack was beaten back by the Allied troops who continued to slog slowly forward, their progress hampered both by the dogged enemy opposition and torrential downpours which transformed roads into vast quagmires.

Tommies of the Eighth Army succeeded in inflicting heavy casualties on the Nazis during a terrific aerial and artillery bombardment which they unleashed after repelling German counter-drives.

ALLIES ARE WAGING HUGE WAR OF NERVES

ean France in addition to the present Italian campaign, and also an assault against the Balkans. But in the latter case he does not know if it will come from across the Adriatic or strike at the west coast of Greece, or through the Aegean, or if Turkey will grant permission for Allied troops to cross her territory to adjoining Bulgaria and Greece.

Marshal Stalin and his general staff are without doubt rapidly preparing for the greatest winter offensives the Red armies have ever launched. And once more the Fuehrer and his generals have no idea where those blows will fall.

Uncertainty for Foes

In the Far East Hirohito and his war lords are in the same seat of uncertainty and fear. They have no possible way of knowing whether Admiral Nimitz's next serious blow will be to the north against the Marshall Islands, or to the west against Nauru, or to the northwest against Truk, or to the southwest against Rabaul. Hirohito knows that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has conferred with Lord Louis Mountbatten and he knows that Mountbatten's East Asia command is going to strike Burma, but he does not know when or where.

The tremendous "war of nerves" which is now being so successfully waged against Hitler and Hirohito is to pin down enemy armed forces everywhere so that they cannot be moved to reinforce any locations where they may expect attack from the United Nations.

MEAT MARKETS PAY POINTS FOR FAT TODAY

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—Another incentive for saving kitchen fats and greases goes into effect today, when meat markets start paying two brown ration points per pound for all the fats turned in.

The ration point refund for a pound of waste fat is the same as for a pound of fresh lard, so housewives could obtain new lard for each pound of fat they turn in without reducing her supply of meat-fat coupons. Fats should be kept in tan cans in a cool place while enough is being collected for sale.

Big Reduction In Federal Employes Urged By Governor

Pennsylvania Chief Executive Urges That 2,000,000 Be Cut Off Payroll

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Members of the Pennsylvania Society of New York were believed to be in accord today with the Keystone state governor's demand that the federal government fire 2,000,000 employes.

Gov. Edward Martin, one of the two invited guests to the society's annual dinner at the Waldorf Astoria Saturday night, declared that paring federal personnel to 1,000,000 workers would "cut down the snooping, prying, spying and desk-sitting in Washington which is interfering with the free enterprise of this country."

The organization, traditional sounding board of the Pennsylvania G O P., also invited Gov. John W. Bricker, of Ohio, in an apparent effort to assess his presidential prospects

The Pennsylvania chief executive deplored the rising cost of government asserting that the scrapping of two-thirds of the federal workers, which "can and must be done," would save the country approximately five billion dollars annually.

Governor Martin called for "more work and less talk, more production and less agitation, more aid to morale and less home front selfishness." He predicted that 1944 would be "the year of decision," and the nation should prepare for it by embarking now on a sound fiscal program "based upon needed public service and not on giving jobs."

He warned that government should not direct the nation's business. "Government must get out of business and stay out," he declared. He added that after the war all war plants in which there are federal interests" must be scrapped or sold to private enterprise."

"Low and equitable taxes and decreased government expenditures must encourage the employment of our people," he said.

More than 162,000 deer and elk hides, collected during the 1942-43 hunting season, went into the leather trade, chiefly for service gloves and other military uses.

Cornell Gals Exceed Men

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 13.—(INS)—Cornell University evidently has decided that the American woman student isn't such a distraction to the men after all.

A few years back the university limited the enrollment of women to around 1,100, but this year's registration is 1,906. Many of the Cornell fraternities, which formerly bragged that they were "anti co-ed," have been taken over as dormitories for Navy V-12 students and living centers for women students.

It's a far cr from 24 years ago, when a group of students blamed the poor showing of the Cornell football team on the distractions of the co-eds.

Women students now outnumber men civilians, there being 1,680 of the latter. The entire enrollment, including those in the military service, is 7,270.

U. S. MEDIUM BOMBER FIELD, Somewhere in England—Meet Major Wilson R. Wood, of Chico, Texas, chunky first assistant to Col. Herbert B. Thatcher, of Chevy Chase, Md., commanding officer of this B-26 field.

Outwardly, there's very little to indicate the major isn't just another Eighth Air Force officer around these parts. He doesn't talk much, and it took a great deal to get him to tell me his story.

Missed Tokyo Raid

But I speedily discovered he has a chip on his shoulder, and the story behind that chip is what makes him different.

Right now he's what he himself describes as a "man of all jobs" and what the record calls "an able and efficient officer." He came out of college at 20 and went into the army. He's been on nine missions over German-occupied Europe aboard Marauders, riding in no special plane but just taking a look at things whenever the opportunity offered. He wears the air medal and he'll soon have a cluster with it.

He's in what a lot of airman would call a "nice spot," but he regards himself as the world's unluckiest airman, for a snowstorm in Indianapolis, Ind., way back last year caused him to miss out on the Doolittle mission over Tokyo, in which all his pals participated.

Ferried Raid Planes

And he feels particularly bad about that because he's the man who ferried across America to the Pacific coast most of the planes that went on the Tokyo raid.

He had volunteered with his pals for the Tokyo mission, and he certainly would have gone on it, for he's a good flyer and a courageous man. He was making what was to be his last ferrying mission across the United States, in time to catch the Doolittle affair, when a bad snowstorm grounded him at Indianapolis.

"I stayed there for some days, couldn't get off the ground," he explained, pathetically, in his slow Texan drawl. "I missed the boat, and the thrill of my life.

"I knew all the boys who were on that jaunt, and lost some of my best friends among those who never came back. I had been with them for two years.

Hopes To Get There Yet

"'Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo' Lawson was a personal friend of mine. Then there's Captain Frank Kappler, navigator, who by some strange coincidence is now on this same field with me. We are darned good friends. We've been together for years. Started flying school together, but he washed out and became a navigator, while I went on to become a pilot and miss that Tokyo shin-dig."

And thereby Major Wood indicated he thought Captain Kappler had it over him by a mile.

Today Major Wood roams around the field on jobs for "the boss," mainly on a battered old bike. And, whenever he gets time, he likes to have Kappler tell the story of the Tokyo raid for the ten-thousandth time.

Maybe the major will get to bomb Tokyo one day, and then he'll lose that chip.

Wastage of food in the home is estimated to cause a loss of 5 per cent of the protein, 24 per cent of the fat and 20 per cent of the carbohydrates of all foods provided.

It is estimated that one-fourth of Hawaii's total population of 430,000 goes to school.

Simple Method Of Soldier Voting Is Urged On Congress

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Dec 13.—(INS)—Congress was asked today by Earl A. Seitz, of Pittsburgh, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, to adopt a "simple" method of absentee balloting which will permit all members of the armed forces overseas to vote in next year's presidential election.

"There has been more than enough talk in and out of congress as to conditions under which men and women in the field and men afloat should be permitted to vote," he told a meeting of the Jackson-Crissman-Saylor post at Bellefonte last night.

"The method finally adopted should be simple in form and universal. No American in our armed services should be disfranchised, or otherwise denied political equality with those who, for various reasons, are still in Continental United States. We are fighting for freedom and the right to vote is fundamental in complete freedom."

Seitz also demanded the immediate construction of additional hospitals to care for Keystone State soldiers returning from the war fronts.

"Surveys conducted by the department of Pennsylvania, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, throughout the state reveal an alarming number of mental and other cases among veterans of the last and this year requiring immediate hospital attention," he stated.

The veterans' leader also advocated "at least" six months' mustered-out pay for all honorably discharged persons in order that today's heroes may not become tomorrow's apple sellers.

SCHEME BACKFIRES

SEATTLE.—(INS)—In order to camouflage his untagged car when he parked in a string of over-parked cars which had already been tagged, Walter S. Yorker, 37, stepped out of his auto, reached into his pocket, and slipped an old traffic tag under his windshield wiper. A patrolman caught him in the act and took Yorker to police headquarters, where he was booked for disorderly conduct.

You Can Give Away Butter, But Not Gas

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—You can give away meat, butter, canned goods, sugar and shoes without collecting ration stamps for them but under no condition can you make a gift to anyone of the gasoline in your auto tank, the O.P.A. explained.

Outlining the regulations on rationed goods, the O.P.A. said a housewife who has bought meat, fats, canned goods or sugar with ration coupons may turn them over to another consumer or to a religious, charitable, civic or municipal organization without asking the recipient to surrender ration stamps for them.

But the O.P.A. warned that point-free gifts of rationed commodities given to charitable and similar organizations must be handed on to a consumer "without charge" and can't be sold or raffled off. If so, the organization must surrender ration stamps to the donor and the ultimate consumer must surrender stamps to the organization.

Shoes bought with a ration stamp may be presented to another consumer ration-free. And if you have been lucky enough to buy shoes outside of the country—or if a soldier friend sends you some—you're permitted to get two pairs without stamps in any one transaction.

As for gasoline (in case you've been thinking of giving some away or ordering a gallon from Santa Claus), there's just no way—legally—in which you can give it away or accept it from someone else.

The only way you can transfer the gas from your own tank to someone else, says O.P.A., is to transfer the car with it.

Bangle Day By Rainbow Girls Made Big Success

Sale Of Bangles Nets Neat Sum For Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society

Through the efforts of the girls of New Castle Assembly, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, Bangle Day, which was conducted here on Saturday for the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society, was made a huge success, the girls securing $218.01 through the sale of these bangles, small replicas of the double-barred cross of Lorraine, the emblem of the Tuberculosis society.

The girls had booths at a number of the banks, stores and theaters, where they sold these bangles to the public, and they received a splendid reception from the public.

Mrs. L. A. Wygant, Mrs. J. W. McCreary and Mrs. John Covert assisted Mrs. Charles E. Allen, who served as chairman from the board, assisting the girls.

Those who took part were: Ruth Lamphier, Lois Ann Voorhees, Martha Robinson, Peggy Marsh, Margaret Muir, Marilyn Shaw, Marlene Umstead, Doris Murphy, Evelyn Murphy, Norma Pillifant, June Rodgers, Audrey Casburn, Jean Lewis, Dorothy Jane Reed, Mary Jane Lockhart, Glenna Doerr, Doris Lanigan, Anne Cooper, Marilyn Calvin, Betty Nesbitt, Edith Dufford, Barbara Van, Donna McClintock, Susan Virtue, Audrey Mooney, Connie Branstetter, Joan Ranier, Peggy Koen, Barbara Krueger, Charlene Vogan, Janet Everett, Lois Olson, Florence Turner, Jeanne Baltes, Betty Carlson, Norma Daniels, Pauline Benson and Donna Magill.

The Bangle sale was held instead of establishing booths in various locations for the sale of seals this year, and proved a huge success

Two Women Jurors Accepted At Noon In Mercer Trial

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 13.—At noon today only two jurors had been accepted out of 27 examined in the trial of William Morrell, charged with the murder of Mrs. Catherine Wilson, Mrs. Helen Wilson and Robert McKay on October 7, 1943, on the farm of Everett Wilson.

Trt two jurors accepted are Mrs. Frances Riley of Greenville and Florence Pringle of Stoneboro.

The trial is attracting a huge crowd of spectators and state police are guarding the entrances to the court room.

State Police Say Monaca Boys Confess Killing

MONACA, Pa., Dec. 13.—(INS)—Three 16-year-old Monaca boys have confessed the hit-run killing of Antonia Kovich, 42, of New Castle, State Police Corporal Paul Rittelmann said today.

Rittelmann said Kovich was run down Friday while the youths were driving without lights, seeking an intoxicated man to "roll for his money". One of the boys was reported to have surrendered when his conscience "started to hurt".

TWO SMALL FIRES

City firemen were called out twice over Sunday for small fires. Fire Chief James E. Thomas reported today.

Saturday afternoon they were summoned to the corner of Race and South Jefferson streets, near Central fire station, where the carburetor of an auto owned by Alfred Freed of R. F. D. No. 5 had backfired. No loss was sustained.

At 3 p. m. Sunday they were summoned to 112 S. Jefferson street, where the occupant had left some meat on the stove, which boiled dry. There was no damage.

FOUR-ALARM FIRE IN PHILADELPHIA BUILDING

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Whipped to furious intensity by high winds, a four-alarm fire today swept through three floors of the Lester A. Crossman storage warehouse at 4143-47 Germantown avenue.

The brick structure had 500 lots of furniture in storage and Crossman estimated the damage at "well over $100,000".

One man, a truck driver for the storage concern was burned when he tried to beat out the flames before firemen arrived.

CHARGED WITH ANNOYING GIRL

Roy Appugliese, 43, of Butler avenue, today was fined $50 by Mayor Charles B. Mayne in police court upon conviction of a charge of disorderly conduct. He was arrested by Detective D. J. Thomas. According to testimony in police court, Appugliese annoyed a young woman, who reported him to police.

MAN BURNED ON FACE

SEARCH FOR THEM WHILE YOU CLEAN

Go excavating in the cellar! Dig out that old iron, fan or tangle of cords under the work-bench!

Remember that clock you won at bridge years ago. Get it out of the cupboard . . . it will get a worker out of bed!

We'll bet you've forgotten all about that old washer and electric ironer up in the attic . . . we'll bet you'd rather have War Stamps!

RIGHT—

Let's do business!

From the days of ye olde trading post, people have thrilled at making a good swap. Right here at your own electric dealer's is the safest and best trade of a lifetime! He'll give you War Stamps for your old electric appliances! Fair enough?

There's a good reason for the revival of the barter system. War workers, newcomers to our neighborhood, often need appliances which they cannot now secure. The electric dealer reconditions the appliances and cords which you find discarded at home . . . other homes can find good use for them! Help yourself and the war effort too!

Giants Tied With Washington For East Pro Crown

New Yorkers Rout Capital Team, 31-7; Play Off On Sunday

Paschal Stars In Surprise Win; Title Game Date Now Dec. 26

(International News Service)

Identity of the Chicago Bears' opponents for the championship of the National Football League still was up in the air today following the New York Giants' emphatic 31-to-7 defeat of the fading Washington Redskins 1942 titleholders at Griffith Stadium, Washington.

The Giants' victory put the two teams in a tie for the eastern division leadership with six wins and three losses and a tie apiece.

It also made a play-off necessary next Sunday to determine which of the teams will play the Bears for the Championship. Football Commissioner Elmer Layden flipped a coin before the game to settle where the game would be played if the Giants won yesterday's contest. The Giants won the toss as well as the game and the play-off will be at the Polo grounds.

The title game at Wrigley Field, Chicago, was moved back from Dec. 19 to Dec. 26.

Paschal Big Star

Bill Paschal, 21-year-old freshman from Georgia Tech, plowed through the Redskin line yesterday much as he did the Sunday before when the Giants won, 14 to 10. However, he picked up only 92 yards in comparison with the 188 he gained the week before.

But these 92 yards were sufficient to give him 572 yards for the season. This gave him a scant yard advantage over Jack Hinkle of Phil-Pitt for the league's ground gaining title.

Ward Cuff, veteran Giant right halfback, shared ball-carrying honors with Paschal and contributed 13 points to the score with a touchdown on a 20-yard run around right end, a field goal from the 18-yard mark and four conversions.

Pass-slinging artist Sammy Baugh of the Redskins had a good and bad day, good in that he completed 16 of 28 attempted passes for a gain of 252 yards to clinch the league's passing crown; bad in that one of his quick kicks was blocked for the Giants' first touchdown and five of his passes were intercepted, one of the interceptions developing into a Giant touchdown.

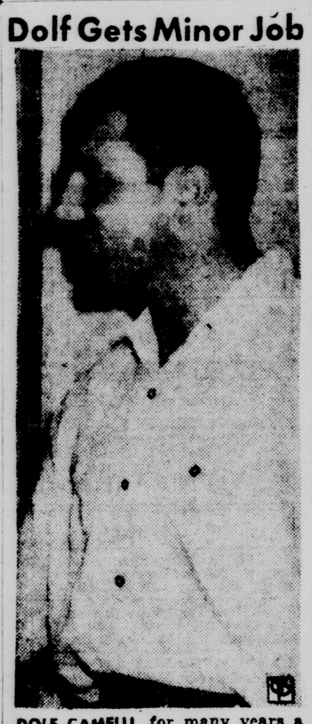
Even though more than 125 different boys sought places on the Penn State football squad during the 1943 season, Coach Bob Higgins finished the year with a squad of 28.

Dolf Gets Minor Job



DOLF CAMELLI, for many years a star first baseman with the Phils, Dodgers and Giants, has been signed to a two-year contract to manage Oakland club of Pacific Coast league. (International)

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Fritzie Zivic and Ossie Harris are scheduled to battle tonight in Pittsburgh. It will be their third meeting, the former welterweight champion having won the first two.

With two matches yet to be played Ned Day, of Chicago appears to be the likely winner of the third annual All-Star match game championships.

Larry Davis was named last year to captain Penn's basketball team. Under the Marine system he was sent to Cornell. He will play for Cornell against his former teammates next Saturday.

Mrs. Elsie McKee, coach of the boys team at Lonaconing, Md., made her debut with a win, her quint having beaten LaSalle High of Cumberland, 21-20. She succeeded Mel Henry.

Colonel Edward Bradley, capitalist, sportsman and philanthropist who lives at Palm Beach, Fla., was 84 yesterday. He celebrated the day quietly with a turkey dinner at his 1,290-acre Idle Hour farm.

Irish Chick Rodgers, known to fight fans several decades ago and who has been a boxing judge in Pittsburgh, is in the Navy. He is home on a furlough. He has been across the Atlantic five times.

Penn State will be host to the Eastern Intercollegaite boxing title tournament in 1944, for the ninth time since 1924. Leo Bouck, former middleweight and who fought George Chip, is State's ring coach.

DECEMBER MONTH OF ANNIVERSARIES FOR BOB HIGGINS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 13.—This is a month of anniversaries for Bob Higgins at Penn State.

The former all-American end, who has just completed his 14th season as head coach of football, will be 50 years old on December 24.

Both and his wife observed their 21st wedding anniversary on December 6.

There are three girls in the Higgins family and the oldest, 19-year-old Mary Ann, is a sophomore at Penn State.

Bridges Starts Military Career

FORT SHERIDAN, Ill., Dec. 13.—(INS)—Tommy Bridges, a right-handed mainstay of the Detroit Tiger pitching staff for 13 seasons, began his army career Saturday when he arrived at the Fort Sheridan Recruit Reception Center.

Bridges, a draftee, is 36, married and the father of an 8-year-old daughter.

Servicemen Boxers In Boston Tourney

BOSTON, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Uncle Sam's soldiers will bear the brunt of the first major leather pushing of the amateur season tonight when Chicago, Cleveland, New York and Boston meet under the auspices of the Irish-American A. C.

The four-city card will feature golden glove and diamond belt champions from the quartet of cities who will give battle with the servicemen in quest of the titles.

Rapidly changing times can be seen in the fact that the entire Boston team is made up of servicemen.

Local Quints Play 6 Games Tuesday

Lawrence county scholastic quints will engage in six more pre-season skirmishes on Tuesday night, four of which will be unfolded on local hardwoods.

In an afternoon contest, Ben Franklin entertains Ellwood City junior high.

The after dark card pits Mars and Union on the Union Township floor. The blue and white from Scotland Lane dropped its opener to the Mars quint and hopes to avenge the setback.

Undefeated Wampum seeks its second win of the season over Beaver high on the Wampum boards. The Indians, already winners twice thus far, handed the valley five a 38-24 pasting.

Stout Bessemer high, which forced New Castle to the limit before losing 29-26, plays host to Lowellville high's five in a clash expected to produce a lot of excitement.

Ellwood City high goes to Rochester in quest of its third success against one defeat.

Remaining county clubs are listed as idle.

Pennsylvania Doe Season Underway

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The long-anticipated three-day doe season opened at 8 a. m. today with an army of hopeful nimrods scouring the secluded woodland glens of seven northern counties.

Fifty thousand permits for the antlerless deer were exhausted Saturday and spirits waxed high among hunters despite the scarcity of ammunition and travel handicaps. The season ends Wednesday.

The doe hunt is being carried on in Lycoming, McKean, Potter, Cameron, Sullivan, Tioga and Warren counties.

Three Counties Fail

Originally the season was scheduled for eight counties, but residents of Clinton county were successful in having their open season cancelled. Sportsmen in Potter, Cameron and Tioga counties sought the same action but failed to obtain the support of the required 50 per cent of their resident hunters.

Game Commission President Ross L. Leffler suggested best results would be obtained if the doe hunters confined their efforts principally to forest areas adjacent to farms, rather than the deep woods country.

Doe hunters must only display the special permit tag, but the regular license and the permit must both be carried on the person.

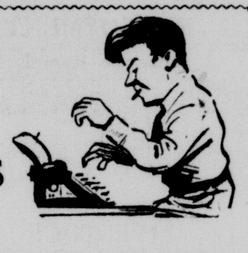
Sports Ramblings



Monday Wash:—

New Castle high's cage meeting with Bessemer was the first between the two schools. . . . The 'Canes turn iron men next Friday night, battling Shenango Township and New Wilmington . . . Pvt. William Mancino, stationed somewhere in North Africa, has sent along his greeting card to this desk. . . . Ditto for Dr. Henry Sloan, one of the most observant sports followers in town. . . .

While directing Westminster College over a 10-year span, Coach John Lawther piloted his alma mater to 166 victories against only 35 defeats! . . . Lawther also introduced the zone defense around the East. . . . If you like grudge basketball, set aside Monday, January 3. On that date Johnson Bronze and the Shenango Pottery meet in an Industrial loop fray. The Potters won the first setto 26-25 in a contest packed with a little of everything. . . .

Rinse:—One of the directors of the Delaware Racing and Steeplechase Association is Robt. Carpenter, Sr. His son, Bob, owns the Phils now. Are you listening Landis? . . . Turf patrons wagered $710,779,432 this season. How much of that did you fork over? . . . A ski tourney has been carded at Wrigley field, home of the Chicago Cubs. Bet Windy City folks tought they had seen the end of 1943 skidding when the major season closed. . . .

The travel ban guys around Washington keep harping about cutting down auto and train movements here and there. Yet, they're permitting the various bowl teams to hop thousands of miles, jeopardizing a service boy's chances of enjoying the holiday with the family back home. . . . Ambridge and New Brighton, two of the hottest valley rivals, are severing football relations. The reasons are not clear. . . . Bob Kurland, the 7-foot center who opposed Westminster College last Saturday night, requires a special hotel bed. . . .

Aggies Vanquish Titan Quint, 41-39, In Overtime Tilt

Kurland, 7-Footer, Wrecks Locals In Exciting Buffalo Contest Saturday Night

BUFFALO, New York, Dec. 13.—Height, Westminster college's long suit, chiefly was responsible for the Titans' 41-39 overtime defeat administered by the Oklahoma A. & M. flippers, Saturday night in the first part of a twin bill.

Bob Kurland, the Aggies' 7-foot performer and a thorn in the path of the Pennsylvanians all night, dumped a pair of fielders in the extra stanza to hand the blue and white from New Wilmington its second successive loss in two nights.

The setto, one of the most thrilling seen in Buffalo in many seasons, was nip and tuck throughout. Despite the fact that the towering Burland batted 13 Titan shots away from the hoops during the conflict, the Washabaughmen managed to remain in the contest from the opening gun and actually got the worst of the breaks in the closing minute.

Kurland Settles Issue

Deadlocked at 31-all, Westminster marched ahead when Ed. Little scored. Frank Dolf, however, stymied the count in the waning moments to send the fray into overtime. Kurland then pocketed his two fielders to rub out another Titan margin.

The Aggies led at the half, 18-17.

Bob Artman, Pitt university high scorer last year, paced the Titans with an even dozen points. Noble Jorgenson, lanky Westminster center, pitched nine to come in second.

Kurland was high man with 15 points and Danny Doyle finished second for the Oklahomans with 13.

Westminster, now boasting of a won three and lost two mark, will rest until December 31 when the Titans clash with Pitt university at Farrell.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The Fritzie Zivic-Ossie Harris feature 10-round bout scheduled for tonight in Pittsburgh has been postponed until Thursday night.

The postponement was brought about when Harris was forced to go to a hospital for treatment of an infected ear. Hospital authorities said Harris would be able to go through the match in a day or two since the ailment was a minor one.

The complete list of six bouts on the program will also be held over until Thursday night.

Harris' trouble was reported to have been caused by a headguard which was being used in training.

All-American Golf Top Prize $5,000

George S. May To Pay Off $25,000 In Total Cash Or Bonds

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Dec. 13—Chicago's all-American open golf championship quite probably will pay off to the rollicking tune of $25,000 in total cash or bond prizes next summer.

It will have a first or capital prize of $5,000. It already has the promised appearance of "five top pros of the country," who say they plan to play in the event no matter how stuffy the starched shirts of Park avenue and Back Bay may decide to get.

This was the effervescent George S. May's answer today to a story that had appeared under the writer's by-line, stating that the starched linen set was preparing with marked hauteur to boycott George's promotions, which are very exclusive, they won't admit a contestant unless accompanied by his pants.

Characteristic Answer

Moreover, the answer was made in quite the characteristic George S. May style, being rendered . . . charges prepaid . . . at $2.35 for the first three minutes of a New York-to-Chicago, person-to-person, mid-day phone call. And somewhere about the fifth minute of his uninterrupted discourse, his agile mind was touched by a fresh idea.

Let's see, now . . . would he do that? Yes, by (———), he would!

"I'll put on a 36-hold, five or six-man play off for the National championship at the close of the season," said he. "I'll invite the various winners of the really worth while events . . the $10,000 Los Angeles open, the $10,000 San Francisco open, the North and South open at Pinehurst; and of course the Victory open here and my own All-American.

At Last! Rangers Win Hockey Tilt

(International News Service)

The New York Rangers finally won a game.

That was the big news in the National Hockey league today, in the wake of another week end of contests. The Rangers spilled the Boston Bruins 6 to 4 on their home ice, to break into the victory column for the first time in sixteen starts.

In other Sunday night contests, the Chicago Black Hawks moved into a tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs by defeating the skaters from across the border 3 to 2. Montreal, in another uphill battle trimmed the Detroit Red Wings 5-1 at Detroit.

Four Lions' Gridders On Basketball Squad

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 13.—Four Lion football stars are numbered among the 20 civilian and Navy V-12 trainees who are seeking berths on the Penn State basketball team this year.

Two of the four—Ed. Czekaj of Mt. Pleasant and Johnny Misiewicz of Charleroi—formerly played football and basketball at George Washington University. They were ends on the grid team.

Allen Richards, Miamisburg, O., and Frank Veneroso, Hazleton, also are candidates. Richards, who was a freshman at the University of Cincinnati before the marines sent him to Penn State, filled the fullback berth on the football team. Venerose, a freshman, finished the season in the tailback position.

Dorazio-Barlund To Fight Friday

DENVER, Dec. 13.—(INS)—Gunnar Barlund and Gus Dorazio of Philadelphia, were to arrive in Denver today for final workouts preceding their 10-round engagement in City Auditorium Friday night.

Dorazio, winner of his last five fights signed Saturday to meet Barlund, after army regulations forced the withdrawal of Pvt. Bob Pastor. Barlund has won his last four bouts.

St. George-Lucy's To Clash Tonight

Industrial and Church league teams continue their battle for honors tonight on the Y.M.C.A. court.

In the opener at 7:30 o'clock, St. George and St. Lucy's clash in a Church loop number. After the Johnson Bronze and Aluminum Works run off their Industrial contest, the Croton and Epworths meet in another Church fray.

Shaughnessy Big Hit As Speaker; Declares Football Vital To War

Famous Coach Scores With Comprehensive And Entertaining Address Here Saturday

As an after-dinner speaker, Clark Shaughnessy, originator of the modern T-formation, is on a par with his national championship Stanford university "Cinderella Team" of 1940.

Here for Saturday night's banquet honoring the New Castle high 1943 football squad the affable Pitt mentor won his way into the hearts of close to 175 listeners with an address that was comprehensive, appropriate, interesting and spiced with humor. In brief, the originator of the modern T-formation unfolded a talk that definitely rates with the best ever delivered at a local sports function.

The former Minnesota fullback and former coach of Tulane, Loyola (South), Chicago, Stanford and Maryland, based his speech on the current war and the part football is and will play in bringing victory to the Allies.

Two Important Aspects

"Football has two important aspects, one entertainment and the second training boys. Football has conditioned many of the soldiers fighting on all fronts and we're mighty because we're lucky we have football," Shaughnessy asserted.

He described the gridiron sport as a "tough, rugged, vicious, painful and a game that teaches sturdiness." Physical condition is paramount, Shaughnessy pointed out, to do a good job. The same is true in war, the Panther mentor explained.

After a few laugh-producing stories Shaughnessy assumed the serious side and spent several minutes talking about the war.

"There isn't a doubt in the minds of the Allies that they will win. Why? Manpower and material resources, both exceedingly important, will not, alone, produce victory. Then what is it? Intelligence, leadership, organization and the will to win are the factors imbedded in the hearts of the Allies," the tall figure stated.

He cited Bronco Nagurski, the 35-year-old pro star and generally regarded as the toughest gridder in the history of the game, as typifying the lessons football teach.

In his closing remarks, the personable coach said:

Win On Level

"Integrity is another lesson taught by football. The game teaches moral lessons that last throughout life. In winning, win on the level. We'll have football and the more football we have, the stronger we will be."

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner opened the George Washington junior high program by eulogizing A. C. Hyde, a member of the school board and athletic council for 17 years, and who has rounded out his career on the board and council.

"Mr. Hyde has many of the qualities of top flight gridders, namely: loyalty to friends to a high degree; loyalty to organization; a fighter for things he believes right and a good loser. He has been a true and good friend of athletics and one who has aided in securing materials as well as the building of the stadium. I thank him in behalf of our team and coaches for the job well done," said he.

Joe Jordan, president of student council and toastmaster, next introduced Mike Roussos, star linesman and honorary captain. The husky athlete thanked the coaches, the Girls' Athletic club and the athletic council for the fine cooperation and wished next season's team luck.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh briefly reviewed the past season and lauded the boys, assistant coaches, the GAC and Miss Fischer. He explained that the squad was faced with numerous handicaps but, nevertheless, measured up and played consistently good football.

Praises Squad

"You boys showed staying qualities. The loss of Tony Razzano was a severe one as Tony displayed tremendous strength. His loss and the broken arm suffered by his substitute, Sam Flora, were hard to overcome. The Clairton team proved one of the best I ever saw and the Warren loss was simply a tough game and the team was not up on its toes. The team seemed tired," the popular pilot said. He then introduced Shaughnessy.

A. C. Hyde next expressed his appreciation for the praise received and affirmed that he made an honest and sincere effort and that he enjoyed doing everything possible for the good of athletics.

Principal Clare Book, of senior high, termed the gridders as "an excellent squad." He urged the boys to fix their goal "far ahead that you'll always have something to work for."

Coach "Hank" Day, of Farrell high, and Ralph Dresh, faculty manger of the Mercer county school, were introduced. They were special guests.

Superintendent of Schools F. L. Burton gave the invocation and Robert Duff, choral director of the high school, led in group singing. Miss Margaret Fischer was at the piano.

The affair setting shifted to the school's gymnasium where the gridders and their lady friends danced.

The turkey banquet was sponsored by the Girls' Athletic club. The athletic council contributed the food end of the unusually delightful event.

TRAINEES DOMINATE

Except for two upperclassmen, all members of the Penn State basketball squad this season are Navy-Marine trainees or freshmen.

CLARK SHAUGHNESSY

Fair or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The greatest double play combination in baseball today still is Landis and Bramham.

The scrawny, straggle-haired old judge who heads the majors and all baseball as high commissioner and the portly, deep-voiced judge who runs the minors as head of the National Association of minor leagues have spent a good part of their time in recent years stopping revolutions within the baseball ranks, punishing evil-doers and working constantly toward a common end—the best interests of baseball.

They haven't muffed one yet. That old cry of the infielders, "Get Two," which means a double play is coming, has been improved upon by them to the extent that they sometimes throw out a dozen on one play and they didn't fail a single time during the baseball convention.

Revolt Stirs Action

To begin with the convention might have been the dullest in years due to the lack of player trades under the stress of war. It might have been but it wasn't thanks to a revolt against his administration which died right before Bramham's eyes and his white-hot denunciation of those who, as he put it, "have gone into huddles" and attacked him.

Baseball men who have grown grey following the game said they had never heard a public address by a baseball official so bitter, so all-incompassing and so straight to the point as he saw it, as the one delivered at the close of the convention by Judge Bramham.

The point is, baseball is facing times when the minors can't conceive of what is likely to happen during this war. Many players may be cast adrift, there may be suits in the courts, and as the old judge put it, "you are going to need unity and honesty." Aside from that Judge Landis had sustained Judge Bramham in his permitting inactive league to vote, which included voting him back into office for 5 years, and if anybody else wants to start running any bases they had better be faster than the Landis-Bramham combination—the best thing that ever happened to baseball.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

A group of young people have been more or less organized for the purpose of establishing a place where they might gather on a Friday or Saturday evening to dance and drink sodas and eat some kind of sandwich. Their plea has been taken before various interested groups and individuals in this community and it seems that every one is for the idea one hundred percent but to date not a great deal has been done that the younger people might take hold of . . . It was put to us that maybe if something was said here someone or some estate might offer to furnish a room for a nominal fee so this idea could be started . . . A large room is prefered and the young men and women will do the cleaning up and repairing . . . Rooms or buildings that need great repair cannot be used as there aren't any public funds available . . . This recreation center would be properly chaperoned at all times. This problem needs our (citizens) prompt attention . . . If you have any ideas won't you please contact this desk by letter.

Well, that certainly did blow up a nice little snow storm . . . Got a little chilly this morning too when it was time to get out and go to work . . . At the edge of town where we live it was 8 above . . . but out at East Brook station, the coldest spot in these parts, it probably was down below zero . . . Well we all agree it was cold enough . . . Maybe we will have a white Christmas.

Two weeks from today it will be all over . . . Christmas . . . every one on the home front will be out talking and telling of what they received and so on . . . but hundreds and hundreds and yes, thousands of minds will be miles and miles away, thinking about the men who have made it possible for us here in the United States to enjoy Christmas without sitting in an air raid shelter or among broken buildings and bleeding bodies . . . We are indeed fortunate and we shouldn't forget to give thanks to those men, who have made this all possible, when we kneel to pray Christmas eve . . . But we can't become morbid, the men over there are not picturing us that way . . . they remember Christmas time with snow, laughter and good cheer.

FIRM NOTE SHOWN IN STOCK MARKET

Trend Is Set By High-Priced Industrials During Trading This Morning

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The stock market opened the week on a firm note today, with the trend being set by high priced industrial shares. Trading was moderate.

Strong groups included the steels, the motors, rail equipments, farm equipments and aviations. Bethlehem led the rise with a gain of ¼ and U. S. Steel followed. Chrysler gained ⅞ at 80¾ and General Motors was ¼ better.

Douglas featured the air shares with a rise of 1¼ to 50. Rails, oils, utilities were mixed.

A special feature was strength in West Indies Sugar which opened ¼ higher at 17⅞ on a block of 1900 shares and then advanced steadily in heavy dealings with another block of 1500 shares crossing the tape.

The volatile liquor shares were active, but in narrower ranges than previously. American Distilling, a month after the liquor dividend plan was first announced, opened unchanged at 115, fell a point, rose 2 and then levelled off at around the opening price. Allied Mills held unchanged at 33.

Bond prices were little changed except in the case of the St. Paul issues which were strong on the new reorganization plan announced Saturday.

FIRM NOTE SHOWN IN STOCK MARKET

Trend Is Set By High-Priced Industrials During Trading This Morning

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(INS)—The stock market opened the week on a firm note today, with the trend being set by high priced industrial shares. Trading was moderate.

Strong groups included the steels, the motors, rail equipments, farm equipments and aviations. Bethlehem led the rise with a gain of ¼ and U. S. Steel followed. Chrysler gained ⅞ at 80¾ and General Motors was ¼ better.

Douglas featured the air shares with a rise of 1¼ to 50. Rails, oils, utilities were mixed.

A special feature was strength in West Indies Sugar which opened ¼ higher at 17⅞ on a block of 1900 shares and then advanced steadily in heavy dealings with another block of 1500 shares crossing the tape.

The volatile liquor shares were active, but in narrower ranges than previously. American Distilling, a month after the liquor dividend plan was first announced, opened unchanged at 115, fell a point, rose 2 and then levelled off at around the opening price. Allied Mills held unchanged at 33.

Bond prices were little changed except in the case of the St. Paul issues which were strong on the new reorganization plan announced Saturday.
